County Business Growth Continuing Upward; Motor Age Blamed for $3,000,000, Rail Loss

CC Strong In Protest Of WS Cut Area Expansion Cited at Hearing

Approximately 50 persons heard arguments at the municipal auditorium last night for and against discontinuance of passenger service on the West Shore Division of the New York Central System.

The meeting had been called to enable a railroad "task force" to present the New York Central viewpoint and answer questions relative to a petition it filed recently with the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities Commissioners and the New York Public Service Commission asking permission to discontinue its money-losing passenger service on the West Shore Division between Weehawken, N. J., and Albany.

New York Central speakers pointed out that the River Division, including the ferry service between Weehawken and Manhattan, lost approximately $3,000,000 in 1953 in passenger and ferry service.

THEY CALLED attention to radical changes in the pattern of transportation in recent years, describing this as a "motor age" with new highways and super-highways attracting an ever-increasing number of motorists. Bridges over the Hudson, tunnels beneath it, the East Shore Division at Rhinecliff, and the adequacy of bus transportation in the Hudson Valley were cited as factors in the steady decline of railroad travel.

A statement by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, presented by President J. Ellis Briggs, pointed out that the west side of the Hudson river was in a period of unprecedented development, that it was inopportune to consider curtailing passenger service and that an effort should be made to improve this service.

BRIGGS SAID the Chamber of Commerce offered the railroad its cooperation in seeking a satisfactory solution to the problem. In brief remarks Mayor Frederick H. Stang expressed vigorous support of the position taken by the Chamber. J. S. Gallagher, manager of passenger traffic research for New York Central, said there had been a "vice and that of traffic away from railroads, describing it as a "condition of our time." He pointed out that "railroad people are not happy about going out of the passenger business" but had to accept it as a matter of necessity.

"Trains in Kingston have long since lost their usefulness. The public left them long ago."

BASED ON railroad studies of passenger service on the West Shore an average of approximately five people get on or get off each train stopping in Kingston, he said, many of these only traveling short distances.

During the month of November, 1954, only 324 people got off trains in Kingston and 478 got on trains, he pointed out. From commuter counts made by the railroad and other independent

300 Mushroom Employees On Strike Along Hudson

The Knaust mushroom industry along the west shore of the Hudson river between Coeymans and Rosendale is at a virtual standstill due to a strike among the employees who are members of Albany Local 294, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, AFL, it was stated at noon today by Arthur Hunt, secretary-treasurer of Local 294.

Over 300 employees are off the job, it was stated, and all mushroom caves along the west shore were being picketed. The cannery at Coxsack was also strike bound with some 160 employees off the job.

Efforts on the part of the Knaust employees to take the matter to the NLRB several months ago failed when it refused jurisdiction on the grounds the mushroom industry was agriculture and when the State Labor Board declined to take jurisdiction efforts were made to sit down with the Knaust management and iron out the situation. Hunt said the only remedy was to strike. He indicated the strike would continue until an agreement was reached with the company.

Republicans Ask Single Primary Election Day

Albany, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Republican state chairman today called for legislation to fix a single primary election day in 1956—instead of two.

L. Judson Morhouse said the proposal would save at least one million dollars in election expenses.

Leaders of the Republican majorities in the Legislature have approved the idea, Morhouse said, and a one-primary bill will be introduced soon. The state chairman added that he hoped Gov. Harriman and the Democrats would agree. State law now provides for two primary elections in a presidential election year—one on the second Tuesday in April and another fixed annually by statute, usually in September.

Delegates to the presidential conventions and members of state and local party committees are chosen at the spring primary. Candidates for the Legislature and local office are designated at the fall primary.

Morhouse suggested June 5 as the date for a combined primary at which all would be selected.

Withdrawal In Last Phase On Tachens

Taipei, Formosa, Feb. 11 (AP)—Chinese Nationalist soldiers dynamited and put the torch to trenches, pill boxes and buildings today and U. S. Navy officers said the evacuation of the Tachens islands was in its final phase.

February gale winds that had slowed the operation died and steady loading continued. Officers said the armada probably would wind up its job and sail by Saturday.

THE NATIONALIST defense ministry said it felt the withdrawal was entering its crucial stage with most land fortifications blown up and equipment and troops ready for shipping.

It said this was a critical period although there was no indication the Communists meant to attack.

"Ships of the great evacuation armada pitched and rolled at anchor off the islands," AP Correspondent Jim Becker reported from the amphibious force flagship Estes.

AP CORRESPONDENT Forrest Edwards, aboard a U. S. aircraft carrier, reported indications on his ship that the troop withdrawal is a one-shot affair.

Nationalist troops, guns and equipment will be loaded and the whole armada, including the protective warships, will make the trip to Formosa together, Edwards said.

Carriers and pilots were prepared to shift their jet and propeller-driven air cover umbrella from the Tachens to the ocean lanes to Formosa, he reported.

"IT SEEMS certain that the evacuation fleet will have air cover from the time it leaves the islands until it gets to Formosa," he quoted a navy briefing officer. "We are ready to shift cover whenever ordered."

Macy Puts His Finger On Dewey

Claims He Said To Burn Letter

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—Ex-Congressman W. Kingsland Macy has told a libel suit jury that former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asked him to burn the "Hanley letter"—explosive issue of the 1950 state political campaign.

Macy elaborated on previous statements yesterday as he testified further in his suit against the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Macy, who seeks $250,000 for alleged libel, contends the newspaper falsely accused him of using the "Hanley letter" to further personal "senatorial ambitions."

THE NEWSPAPER contends that the article was true.

Joe R. Hanley, then lieutenant governor, sent a letter to Macy in 1950 saying in part: "Today I had a conference with the governor... definite propositions were made to me. If I will consent to take the nomination for the United States Senate, I am definitely assured of being able to clean up my financial obligations in 90 days."

Macy testified yesterday that he met Dewey in Dewey's room in a Saratoga Springs, N. Y., hotel in a midnight conference on Sept. 6, 1950.

MACY SAID Frank C. Moore, then state comptroller, appealed to him: "King, can't you be a little friendly? The governor wants to be friendly to you."

Macy, who had split with Dewey before that, continued that Dewey "came over and put his arm around me and said: 'I've done a great many things for you.'"

"I didn't respond," Macy said. "I was not asking favors. The conversation got a bit agitated. I told him I didn't propose to submit to any district attorney tactics."

Macy was asked on the witness stand if he "became a bitter enemy of Dewey." He replied:

Millham Named As New Fireman

Robert G. Millham, of 409 Washington avenue, was appointed a member of the fire department at a special meeting of the fire board last night.

Millham, who has been employed by Boice Bros. Dairy, Lake Katrine, is a brother of Patrolman Crawford Millham, and is due to start with the department March 1. He fills a vacancy left when Glyn M. Southard, was recently promoted to a captaincy.

THE NEW FIREMAN, as a volunteer, has been a member of Excelsior Hose Company No. 4.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said the appointment fills all present vacancies in the department. The eligibility list, he said, still contains three names in the event other appointments are necessary.

Kingston Post Will Honor Messinger

Legion to Give Life Membership

GEN. E. J. MESSINGER

Brig. Gen. Edwin J. Messinger, commandant of cadets at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, will be presented with a life membership in Kingston Post American Legion at its regular February meeting Tuesday, Meyer Kaplan, commander announced today.

A native of Kingston, Gen. Messinger was honored here last fall at a special program arranged by his former high school friends, classmates and others in the city.

COMMANDER Meyer Kaplan in announcing plans for presenting the life membership said: "The sterling silver life membership card is the first of its kind ever to be presented by Kingston Post, and I am proud that such an event should occur in my term as commander."

The meeting is due to start at 8:15 p. m.

"It is a credit to the post," he said, "to have on the membership rolls, a man of the calibre of Gen. Ed Messinger. His accomplishments in the field of sports are known to a good many of us, but his brilliant war record, due to his modesty, is not completely known to all. Some few of us are aware of his accomplishments on the field of battle, and are awed by the many outstanding services he performed for his country. He is truly an officer and a gentleman, and member of whom we can be proud."

ON THE PROGRAM, along with the presentation, will be Sandra Ashdown, of St. Ursula's Academy and John Snyder, of Kingston High School, the legion's representatives in an oratorical contest. They will give their orations before the legionnaires, and on this Commander Kaplan notes:

"It is significant that their orations will be on The Bill of Rights in the presence of such a distinguished officer whose whole life is dedicated to the preservation of that document."

The Ladies' Auxiliary, he said, has made plans for a buffet dinner after a short business meeting, and the rest of the program.

Ellenville Second to Kingston

Saugerties 3d, Highland 4th

Ulster county has had a business growth of 4.4 per cent in the past five years, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., of New York, notes in a report released today.

Kingston, it says, "continues to be the dominant commercial town in Ulster with almost 40 per cent of the total listings."

A GAIN OF 90 business listings is shown for the five-year period covered in the report. The January, 1955 reference book contains 2,145 business listings as against 2,055 in 1950.

Ellenville is listed as the second largest commercial community followed closely by Saugerties, Highland and New Paltz are fourth and fifth.

Kingston's listing is 848, Ellenville's 198 and Saugerties 196. Highland has 109 and New Paltz 80. Woodstock is next with a listing of 77.

THE REFERENCE book lists commercial enterprises; manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and other businesses, generally those buying regularly on credit. It does not include establishments of a service or professional nature, such as real estate brokers, barber and beauty shops, professional men, stock brokers and others of similar occupation.

Hence, if all businesses were included, the total in the county would be considerably higher than noted above.

Other listings include Wallkill with 49, Marlborough, Rosendale and Kerhonkson with 40 each. Phoenicia and Port Jervis with 29 each. Accord with 25, Milton with 22, and Napanoch with 20.

COMMUNITIES with 14 each are Clintondale, Gardiner, Glasco, Pine Hill and West Hurley. Stone Ridge has 17 and High Falls 15. Mr. Tremper has 13, Hurley 12, and listed for 10 each are Boiceville, Malden-on-Hudson, Shandaken, Ulster Park and West Shokan.

Bearsville and High Mount have a listing of 12, Walker Valley 9, Lake Katrine 8, and listed for 7 each are Ashokan, Plattelick, Rifton, Spring Glen and Tiltson. Glenford and Wawarsing have 6 each, and listed for 5 are Allabon, Ardonia, Esopus, Olive Bridge and Bloomington.

A total of 25 communities have listings of from one to four.

The report was released by Harrison Harper, manager of Dun & Bradstreet.

One notation on Saugerties said its location "seems to have aided its commercial development, it being just up the river from both Kingston and Poughkeepsie."

It further noted that "development of this locality is further emphasized by the growth of both Highland and New Paltz," the fourth and fifth ranking communities.

The 4,156-page reference book, weighs more than 22 pounds. Six editions are published annually, plus smaller state additions in January and July.

Preparing Heart Mail for Feb. 14

Paid firemen from the central, uptown and downtown stations are now preparing several thousand heart letters which will be sent to residents of Kingston and Ulster county by the Ulster County Heart Chapter. Barring fires, the men believe the letters will be in the mail in time for Valentine's Day.

Attorney S. James Matthews, general chairman, said the committee appreciate greatly the volunteer work carried on by the firemen. He said, "The firemen not only protect our lives and property but are always ready

Thursdays 56 Degrees Reported 21-Year High

Yesterday's temperature of 56 degrees at 2:30 p. m., was a 21-year high by records of the city engineer's office.

The mild weather continued through this morning, but by 1 p. m., after the mercury reached 49 in the late morning, it dropped 12 degrees by 1 p. m. to indicate a rapidly approaching cold spell.

Highest before yesterday on Feb. 10 were 46 on that date in 1945 and again in 1954. The highest for this date was 50 in 1952. A temperature of 41 was reached on the 10th in 1950 and 1952.

Yesterday's high was only a week away from the coldest day of the winter, the eight below zero on Feb. 3. The day before that the mercury reached three below.

Forecasts today indicate temperatures well below the freezing point late tonight and early tomorrow.

The services were largely attended by her many friends and relatives. While the remains repose at the funeral home many called to offer condoleances. Floral tributes were many and beautiful, including spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. Wednesday evening Monsignor Connelly visited the funeral home and offered prayers for home and departed soul. At 8:30 o'clock the Rev. Father Keating assisted by relatives and friends present, recited the Rosary. Burial was in Rosendale Cemetery. Bearers were Donald Krom, Claude O'Callaghan, Thomas Parker and J. P. McCarrin.

LeRoy Every

Funeral services for LeRoy Every of 134 O'Neil street were held Thursday afternoon at the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany avenue. The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle of the Reformed Church of the Comforter officiated. There was a procession of beautiful floral tributes attesting to the high esteem in which he was held by his many friends, neighbors and fellow workers. Wednesday evening a large delegation of executives and fellow workers of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. called to pay their respects and offer condolence to the bereaved family. Representatives of the Hercules Powder Company and New York Telephone Company also called. Burial was in the family plot in Woodstock Cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Prindle conducted the committal services. Bearers were Lemuel Boice, Frank Van Loan, Allison Short, Fred Plattner, Kenneth McNeil and James McAndrew, all employees of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

Tito Against Bloc

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Feb. 11 (AP)—Yugoslav President Tito said again today that Yugoslavia will not enter any bloc—Communist or Western—but will pursue an independent course to "support the policy of peace." Sun-bronzed from his 73-day trip to India, Burma and Egypt, the Yugoslav Communist leader disembarked from the naval ship Galeb at the Adriatic seaport of Rijeka. Belgrade radio reported thousands cheered him and singing schoolchildren scattered flowers over the waterfront. "We believe that blocs lead toward conflicts, and conflicts are the major danger of humanity," Tito declared in a speech on arriving. "The race in arms exists," he continued. "We will not join those who believe that problems should be settled by arms. That would mean a catastrophe for the human race."

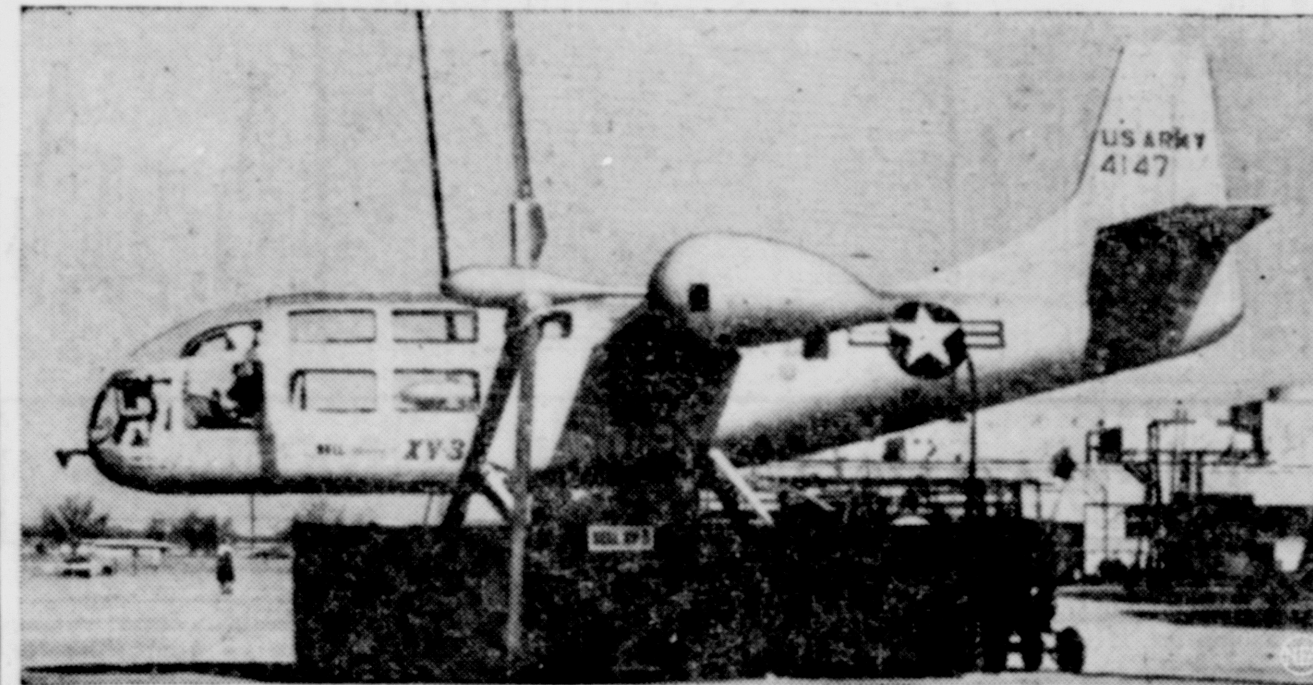

Stuck in Oven

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—Six-year-old Olga De Juana and her sister, Gloria, 4, were playing in the kitchen of their Brooklyn home yesterday when they decided to put their dolls in the oven. After the dolls were in the oven, Gloria suggested that Olga climb in with them. Olga did, and Gloria jammed in the wire baking rack and Olga was very much stuck. Howls from Gloria and Olga brought their mother, who needed police help to free the oven-bound Olga. Anybody burned? Only Gloria, in a "rear action" maneuver by her mother.

Propellers operate as helicopter rotors for take-offs and landings...

... and tilt forward to perform as conventional propellers for cruising and high-speed flight. PICTURES ABOVE show Bell XV-3 Convertiplane, just unveiled by Bell Aircraft in Ft. Worth, Tex. The rotor-propellers are mounted on the wing, will act as helicopter rotors during take-offs and landings. Then, they will be tilted forward to act as propellers when the plane attains cruising speed. The tilting arc is 90 degrees and takes 15 seconds to make the changeover from aircraft to helicopter drive. As a conventional plane its top speed is over 175 mph, 50 mph faster than most helicopters fly. It is 30 feet long, has a 30-foot wingspan and operates on a single engine positioned behind the pilot. Developed for the U. S. Army, the Convertiplane is expected to contribute to air safety and the development of heliports instead of large airports.

Doubtful on Schools

Albany, Feb. 11 (AP)—Educators were privately doubtful today that President Eisenhower's seven-billion-dollar school building program would ease classroom shortages in New York state. However, the State Education Department withheld official and public comment until it could study the details of the President's proposal for a federal-state-local school construction drive. In private, leading educators said Eisenhower's plan would not attack the heart of the school construction problem in New York state. One top-level official noted that the bulk of the proposal—involving six billion dollars in construction—was devoted to making it easier to borrow money for school building projects. He observed that school districts in New York state had no difficulty in borrowing money at low interest rates to finance school construction programs, and that the hard-pressed districts in general faced no problem with debt limits.

New Lease for $1

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—The New York City Center—which represents high-grade ballet, drama, opera and music at moderate prices—will get a 10-year lease at an annual rent of $1 a year. The non-profit corporation, set up in 1943, has been required to pay rent of 1½ per cent of its income. It has paid $101,259 but still owes $57,000. The city board of estimate decided yesterday to provide the $1-a-year rent when the center's old lease expires Aug. 1. Arrangements also were being made to find a way for the city to legally "forgive" the $57,000 in back rent. The city center occupies the old Mecca Temple building owned by the city on West 54th street.

KINGSTON DAYS

Today and tomorrow Kingston merchants will offer the public an unusual opportunity to purchase the latest quality merchandise at prices that no one can afford to pass up. The occasion for these big savings is Kingston Days.

The uptown merchants have on hand great quantities of quality merchandise at very attractive prices and are desirous that shoppers in this area take full advantage of this opportunity.

Residents in this area have confidence in Kingston merchants and the result is that when a sale is announced and advertised they respond in record crowds.

Savings in purchases at this time of the year are very important for family units and the people of the area show their appreciation to the local merchants by turning out in large numbers.

MARLBOROUGH CAN BE PROUD

Records show that Scouting has its rewards for boys who participate, and it is gratifying to note during this Boy Scout Week that a Marlborough youth has been singled out for a great honor.

Robert Bull, from the American Legion Troop in his community, diligently applied himself and became an Eagle Scout, the highest rank possible to attain in Scouting.

Aside from the things he learned, including how to be a good American, Robert Bull's reward will be the distinction of representing Rip Van Winkle Council, made up of boys from Ulster and Greene counties, at the International Jamboree next August.

At the event in Ontario, Canada, he will mix with approximately 15,000 delegates from 78 foreign countries, talk with many of them and exchange ideas.

Being singled out for such an honor surely is something of which to be proud. As for his fellow Scouts, his example is a great lesson. They'll do well to apply themselves with the same ardor and vigor of Robert Bull.

Sir Winston Churchill is 80 years old, but far from retiring as premier. He is even taking on new activities. His Labor Minister, Sir Walter Monckton, has been ordered by his doctor to take a few months rest; and Churchill is adding his department to his other burdens.

ONE OUT OF EVERY 17

This is a hazardous life we lead, even without the Communists pestering us directly. While going about their ordinary and extraordinary affairs in 1954, some 91,000 Americans were killed in accidents.

That's not quite as bad as 1953, when the death toll from all mishaps was 95,000. But it's certainly not a cheerful report.

Moreover, about 9,200,000 people were injured and the estimated economic loss from all this human damage came to $10 billion.

The National Safety Council, which compiles these figures, notes that 36,300 of the accident deaths were traffic fatalities. That represented a 5 per cent drop from last year's 38,300, and the lowest figure since 1950. With both the population and the number of cars on the road increasing steadily, this would seem to be one of the brighter spots in the report.

Yet, however much improved the percentages may look both for motor accidents and other categories, the grand total still is staggering. And the council reminds that one out of every 17 Americans last year suffered a disabling injury.

We worry a lot about not sending "our boys" to die again on foreign soil. But far more Americans than have been lost in war rise from their beds each year and go forth to die on highways, on stairways, in bathrooms, on stepladders, on icy sidewalks, and countless other ways.

Our statesmen are striving to make the world safe for democracy. We've got a lot to do just to make it safe—period.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

As the years roll in the saga of America, Abraham Lincoln grows in stature not because he was assassinated, nor even because he was President during our Civil War, but because he was a philosopher, a moralist, a rare figure among those who rise in our political system.

The American President has usually been a politician, not a statesman; an operator of the techniques of manipulating the people's choice, not a thinker who leads his followers into the lofty realms of moral philosophy. Too often his speech has been of the earth rather than inspired by revelation. How many of them could have thought, much less put into rhetoric, the grandeur of the Second Inaugural:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

Abraham Lincoln thought lyrically and his poetry was sunshine in a dark moment of national history. He required no ghost-writer. He was not briefed by researchers. He called no conferences to decide what he was to think and say. His artistry came from his consciousness, and to it, no man could add or detract. A man who could compose the "Gettysburg Address" on the back of an envelope while travelling on a railroad train is unusual among our politicians who generally submit their major thoughts to associates for criticism, the associates taking out of it everything that is of sufficient potency to produce controversy.

Lincoln was never afraid of controversy. In fact, he started his national career as a controversialist, debating the little giant, Stephen Douglas, no mean man. The Lincoln-Douglas debates stirred a generation by the deftness of logic, by the fullness of the knowledge of both debaters and by the courageous stance of each man on a public question. There was no pussy-footing in anything that Lincoln did and said, as the more popular Seward discovered to his discomfort.

What a wonderful thing it would be in this age of television if two candidates for the Presidency—say Eisenhower and Stevenson in 1952—could have debated the issues before the nation, face to face, with questions and answers and interpellations. Perhaps the nation might have discovered that the egg-heads are really behind the scenes. It might be like the speaker with "the perfect voice" who squeaks through a few paragraphs when the microphone has suddenly and for no just cause gone dead.

Lincoln lives for us not so much in deeds as in ideas. "I intend no modification of my oft-expressed personal wish that all men everywhere could be free." "What is conservatism? Is it not adherence to the old and tried, against the new and untried?" Replying to the South Carolina Commissioners, he said: "As President, I have no eyes but constitutional eyes; I cannot see you."

One can pick and choose nuggets of thought, wisely and literally spoken, courageously phrased with no idea of advantage. Such men do not often appear in any country; they have rarely appeared in ours since that magnificent group of philosophers sat in Independence Hall to adopt the Declaration of Independence and later to write the Constitution. Lincoln might have been of that galaxy had he been born earlier; he was of their succession. He was a sad man, as the philosopher must be. John Stuart Mill said, "Ask yourself whether you are happy, and you cease to be so." Lincoln probably never asked himself such a question. He was born and reared in a world of contention and quarrel that ended in war and in his assassination.

Our people in these days pray for the inspiration of a national ideal. We live in a period of excitement, of action, of motion, but we are a sad people because we are not at peace with ourselves or with the world. We need the wisdom of a great mind and the leadership of one who walks with God. We again need the gentle hand of Abraham Lincoln who could be firm in the right without permitting himself the wickedness of hate.

MENTAL HEALTH

There appears to be little information available on the exact amount of mental illness which exists throughout the world. Figures given vary from one in 10,000 in rural Africa to as high as three in 1,000 for Western nations. "It is of interest that there appears to be a higher provision for mental services in city areas but this should not come as a surprise as everyone knows of the illnesses produced by the hustle and bustle of city life. The countryman, of whatever nationality, is a more contented and placid individual than his city brethren."

As a recent report of WHO (World Health Organization) pointed out, the provision of mental beds in hospital for psychiatric patients is over-emphasized rather than the need for positive mental hygiene prevention measures, the development of a real community mental service.

How can this be done? One suggestion is that while in the past the mental hospital psychiatrist spent all his time in the hospital itself, today he should try to spend at least one-third of his time outside the hospital in preventive and educational activities. "The psychiatrist should be a citizen of the community primarily and take an active part in the religious, recreational and governmental activities of the neighborhood from which his patients are drawn."

This report suggests that mass methods of approach to the community by radio or the popular press are less effective than lecturing to small groups or key individuals in professions and in industry. One of the greatest dangers of a mental health education program is that it will make people over-conscious of their ailments. "The prevention of mental disease, as is true of all diseases, is the most important matter. Prevention can start only at the beginning—the education of parents in the proper way of bringing up children."

The report also deals with the need for out-patient treatment of mental illnesses, such as the provision of day treatment centers, where those with mild mental illness can spend the day at the hospital and the night at home. There is not only great saving on hospital costs but there is also a "club" feeling developed among these out-patients in group activities by which they help one another.

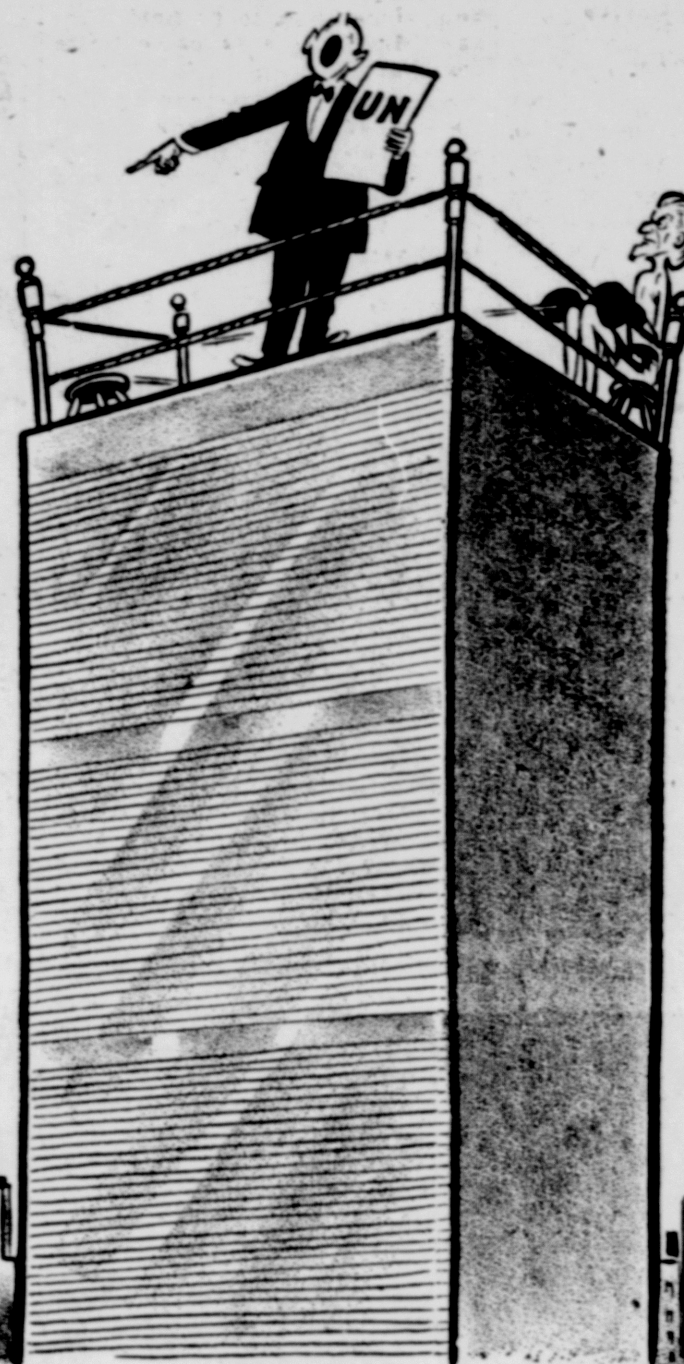

There is one encouraging thing we can bear in mind, however, and that is our psychiatrists and neurologists are able, by means of shock and other methods of treatment, to enable more mental patients to return home to a useful life than ever before in our history.

... And in This Corner—We Hope—Red China!"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—Likeliest outcome of the Formosa crisis is now regarded in Washington as a continued stalemate.

A remote possibility is for an undeclared, uneasy, cease-fire agreement. Before that is achieved, there may be some testing out of military action by Red China, probing to see how far the U. S. will go in backing up Nationalist Chinese forces.

The worst possible outcome is conceived as a United Nations resolution which would be acceptable to Communist China, but which the United States could not accept. Such a solution would be a UN decision to give Formosa to Red China.

An American veto of this solution in the UN Security Council would have the effect of separating the U. S. from its allies. There is a general recognition in Washington that any decision the United States makes on Formosa must have allied backing.

The U. S. sponsored the Formosa cease-fire proposal largely to get this free world backing for the American moral position.

Even Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, is said to recognize that this country must have world opinion on its side.

HE HAS BEEN quoted frequently as favoring a China blockade, a more aggressive military policy for the U. S. in the Far East, and a fight-now-rather-than-later policy.

This has been limited, however, by his belief that these things could be done only if the international political atmosphere is right and there is world backing for American policy.

This is an important qualification frequently omitted in stating the admiral's views.

The basic military decision in handling the Far Eastern situation is that the retention of Formosa in hands friendly to the U. S. is essential for American defense. Civilian officials don't question the decision of the military on this point.

A contributing factor to this decision is a civilian, political reasoning that any further retreat or concession of real estate to the Communists in the Far East will have a devastating effect on the Allied cause in Asia.

If the United States lets Red China have Formosa without a fight, there is a risk that the whole of Asia will go down the Communist drain. The Asian people want to be on a winning side.

In the defense of Formosa there is a firm conviction that no American ground forces shall be committed on the China mainland. Any U. S. action will be limited to U. S. Navy and Air Force.

THE QUESTION THAT arises from this is whether the United States would fight to support the Chinese Nationalists' present hold on Quemoy, Matsu or the Tachen Islands.

The United States definitely does not want to go to war with Communist China over a tiny, Chinese coastal island. Furthermore, the Chinese Reds have said many times they were fighting not to liberate Quemoy, but to win Formosa.

On the other hand, suppose the U. S. gave no support to Chinese Nationalists to hold the off-shore islands. Suppose they fell into Communist hands without a struggle.

That might destroy Nationalist Chinese morale. It would make the holding of Formosa impossible. The next step would be that the U. S. would have to fight on the ground to save Formosa.

Some of the coastal islands are said to be almost impregnable fortresses, heavily manned with Nationalist troops. With U. S. air and naval support they might be held indefinitely. Attacking Red troops might be slaughtered in great numbers.

IT IS CONCEDED THAT in such an action a U. S. aircraft carrier might be sunk by Red bombers, accidentally or on purpose. Under present policy, President Eisenhower would then have a free hand, if he chose, to order "hot pursuit" of Red bombers back to their bases and the destruction of those bases.

So-called "massive retaliation," such as was talked of grandly in the earlier days of the Eisenhower administration, is apparently no longer contemplated.

There would be no bombing of Peiping. The scale of the American counterattack would be determined by the scale of the original Red attack.

It is further emphasized that this limited reaction is not "preventive war." It is described as "action to prevent war," if you can make that distinction.

The Administration is apparently counting heavily on the effectiveness of this deterrent action. The idea is that a decision would be reached quickly and not through an extended war as in Korea.

There is a belief that the Red Chinese do not want a full scale war. A defeat inflicted on Communist China in a limited action would have a devastating effect on its plan for expansion in this part of the world.

This is calculated as a further deterrent, contributing to the indefinite continuation of a Formosa stalemate.

Era of Peace and Understanding Could Be Arranged if Left to Eisenhower and Zhukov

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 11 — If it were left to just two men—President Eisenhower and Marshal Zhukov, the new Defense Minister in Moscow — there probably could be an era of peace and understanding in the world.

For there is an intensely human aspect to the friendship which developed in wartime between the commander-in-chief of the American and Allied forces in Europe and the commander-in-chief of the Soviet forces.

LONG BEFORE General Eisenhower became President he talked to intimate friends of his meetings in Berlin in 1945 with Marshal Zhukov. From the statements made this very week in Moscow to newsmen by the new Cabinet minister who will be in charge of all defense for Soviet Russia, it is evident that the friendship has not been forgotten by the Soviet leader.

Marshal Zhukov is a military hero in Soviet Russia and, if he alone were to decide on future policy, there would be much less to fear even though he has a military background. For, contrary to a rather curious impression that seems to have been fostered in pacifist quarters where the word "militarism" is loosely used to describe a phobia to start fighting—the truth is military men usually do not want war and lean over backward to avoid it. Generals who have the responsibility of ordering young men to face death are often the last people to urge the use of war as an instrument of national policy.

IF MARSHAL ZHUKOV could speak his own thoughts freely, he probably would say the same things that President Eisenhower has been saying against war. Actually, since Mr. Eisenhower has been in the White House, he has proved the very antithesis of the concept of a military man which has been so widely held.

But could these two men Zhukov and Eisenhower—get-together and talk things over? This concrete question was raised at the President's press conference this week, and he answered, guardedly, that he would have to take up such a proposal with his advisers.

MAINWHILE, Marshal Zhukov in Moscow in an interview earlier this week with William Randolph Hearst Jr., head of the Hearst group of newspapers and Kingsbury Smith of the International News Service, referred specifically to the two times he had been invited by General Eisenhower to visit America and expressed the hope that his dream of coming here might someday be realized. He said that he didn't think relations at the moment made it "suitable" for him to come at this time, but he hoped relations would improve.

What does all this mean? Plainly the rise of Marshal Zhukov is a significant development. Today, of course, he is an officeholder backed by the Communist party. He has to stick closely to their doctrine. If he came to the United States as an envoy of the present Communist regime, he would not get the same kind of reception as he might get if he were the elected representative of the Soviet people as a result of a free election.

THERE MAY come a time when some spokesman of a free government which has overthrown—perhaps with a bloodless revolution—the clique who rule Soviet Russia today, can visit the United States and be welcomed with trust. Such an occasion could arise if the people of the Soviet Union ever recovered their lost liberties. Today even a military hero in Moscow is the prisoner of Communist intrigue and Communist-party supremacy. For every soldier of high rank obeys an existing regime implicitly. It is something imbedded in his training—a habit of obeying orders. That's why some of the other things that Marshal Zhukov said in his interview this week will be discounted as the "official line." He has talked about America also in the last year in phrases that suggest he had a Communist mentor, write for him the views he expressed.

But the new situation in Soviet Russia could mean the eventual ascendancy of Marshal Zhukov to the top place. Since the death of Stalin, he has become the outstanding military man of the country, and his popular following carries over into the political arena. The fact that they risked putting him into the government at all must mean that he has achieved a position of such commanding strength that he could no longer be ignored as he was during the post-war years when Stalin gave him an obscure post in Odessa and kept him out of the limelight.

As between the theory that the downfall of Malenkov portends a tougher Soviet policy, with a threat of war, and the prediction that an era with some sort of effort to reach an understanding with the West is about to begin, this correspondent inclines to the latter concept and would not be surprised if the man who now plays a prominent part in such a peace plan is Marshal Zhukov himself. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

My old sparring partner, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, the salesman who married the boss' daughter and became the publisher of the New York Times, has got the damndest knack of leading with his maxillary. That is an intellectual word meaning the jawbone. I would not use it ordinarily because I am a misogammarian, which is another intellectual word meaning a dummy who does not know nothing, does not want to know anything and does not like intellectual people.

Several times Mr. Sulzberger's N. Y. Times has taken picks on me as "anti-intellectual," a rough-hewn, homestead word which they resort to because apparently their intellectual development stopped a little short of the right word for such cases made and proved. In the later of these exploits they played up a little dash of the double-domes at a hall in New York at which a character named Dr. Theodore Brameld, of New York University, said "Anti-intellectualism" was "a serious force, likely to become more serious" and held up Westbrook Pegler as the most ominous operator of this evilism.

The Times said also, by the way, that Eleanor Roosevelt was among the "attentive audience" and I thought to myself that it was a good thing they did not require at least a kindergarten diploma because otherwise the girl of my not always happy dreams might have got the rags at the gate. Because, according to my reading in her own stuff, Dreamie was parked with an old French atheist tomato at a sort of checkroom school for unwanted children, and got kicked out for telling a lie to promote a little flutter of sympathy because nobody loved her. Considering her childhood and the character of her family, as described in her own work, the wonder is that she turned out as well as she did.

Well, in practically the next mail, I got a letter from the Rev. St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Rosedale, L. I.

"I recalled," he wrote, "that in my student days at Union Theological seminary I was given an introduction to him (Brameld) by no less a personage than Prof. Harry F. Ward as the 'outstanding Marxist thinker of our generation.' At the time he was in the philosophy department of I.U. Under the name of Theodore B. H. Brameld, Ph.D., he had published 'A Philosophic Approach to Communism,' University of Chicago Press, 1933. Since the article gave the impression that you had not checked up on this character, I pass this on to you for what it is worth. Keep up the good work and God bless you."

I asked Doctor Butler at once for further information on the savant who perceived in me a formidable menace to intellect, not failing, at the same time, to make inquiries of the great brain himself. No acknowledgment was made, but I was told from Brameld, but Doctor Butler wrote further. You may sympathize with my utter confusion when you have dipped your bill into Brameld's gumbo. Doctor Butler reports:

"A Philosophic Approach to Communism" is definitely dated stuff. There are only two references to Stalin in it. While he writes with an affected air of academic detachment, he is most anxious to prove that Marxist thinkers are quite respectable intellectually and have their basic roots in the philosophical wisdom of the sages. Most of the book is bald-erdash that would only appeal to a mentality ten times removed from reality, as:

"An observer removed to a wider perspective than the doctrine internally allows, sees that the Communist is incommensurate in an absolute, yet acquiescent in an interactive world."

No fooling, my fellow misogammarians, I am following copy. Maybe we ought to do it on a concertina. Anyway, forward, men:

"He sees, therefore, that the dialectical spiral of matter-ego blends from his perspective, after all, with the operating functions of the environment. But he sees that this is so as much in spite of as because of system and methods, as such."

"Most of the book," said Doctor Butler, "moves in this limbo of feigned cerebration. There is this gem on Page 221: 'If instrumentalism, for example, has such truth, then so is communism; but then communism has truth, too if it has for a spokesman of behalf of one of all time's great philosophies of life: Work out your own salvation, cries St. Paul, for it is God that worketh in you.'"

Doctor Butler remarks: "I find this an interesting quote from the Communist so it is communism; but then communism has truth, too if it has for a spokesman of behalf of one of all time's great philosophies of life: Work out your own salvation, cries St. Paul, for it is God that worketh in you."

As communism thus appropriates simultaneously both of our principal concepts—and this is the fourth alternative—the dualism produced by the evidence of part two and part three, accordingly dissolves. Such dualism dissolves, moreover, for (Continued on Page 5, Col. 8)

War Memorial Is Given Attention

Saugerties, Feb. 10—The almost un-noticed monument commemorating the sinking of the battleship Maine prior to the Spanish-American War was brought to the attention of various people this week due to the gradual deterioration and neglect of the memorial. It presently stands on the northeast corner of the Malden school playground a few feet from another memorial commemorating World War I.

According to the history of the monument and plaques which it supports, it was made possible through the arrangements of the late Poultnery Bigelow, sage of Malden, who was a war correspondent at the time. When the sunken battleship Maine was raised from the bottom of Havana harbor some of the copper and bronze was salvaged and plaques were cast commemorating event for posterity. A small number of these plaques were made and some are treasured in the meeting rooms of various veteran's organizations throughout the nation.

Bigelow arranged to secure one of these plaques for Malden and a stone monument was erected on which the plaque and a name plate was imbedded.

Now due to the ravages of weather and with the help of little idle hands the stones and mortar which hold the monument together are coming loose and in a matter of a very short time this historic memorial would have become the object of derision.

However, Peter M. Williams, supervisor of the Town of Saugerties and well-known champion of local veterans heard of the plight of the memorial from a local veteran of the Spanish-American War and took immediate steps to save the historical monument.

Supervisor Williams, who is a service officer of the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion issued instructions to a local mason to repair the memorial in order that it will be in acceptable condition for anniversary memorial services which are scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 11 a. m.

The Saugerties Memorial Post, 5034, VFW will conduct the memorial services in conjunction with the members of the Lt. Charles A. Vroman Camp, No. 129, United Spanish War Veterans of the Catskill-Saugerties areas.

Scouts Are Honored At Exempt Dinner

Saugerties, Feb. 10 — The Scout Village Board of Trustees received another surprise when they learned that as members of Saugerties' officialdom they were also invited to the annual banquet of the Saugerties Exempt Firemen's Association.

Approximately 90 members and guests attended the program in the municipal building following the Village Board meeting Monday night.

A full course ham dinner served family style was prepared by Philip Breithaupt, chef and served by Mrs. Mary Breithaupt, Mrs. Catherine Teetsel, Mrs. Philip Breithaupt, Henry Amend, Donald Minkler and Charles Kimble.

Arthur D. York, president of the group served as master of ceremonies and introduced the honored guests which included the Scout Village Board, Scout Mayor Richard Brackett, and Trustees Fred Kurtzweg, John Wey, Dale Ruby, Gordon Purcell, Eugene Lang and James Mergendahl. Wilbur Wayne, Scout police commissioner, was unable to attend.

Town Supervisor Peter M. Williams and Deputy Mayor Frank Short addressed the gathering briefly. Deputy Mayor Short is serving as acting mayor in the absence of vacationing Mayor George P. Holmes.

Boy Scouts Preside At Village Board

Saugerties, Feb. 10 — Boy Scout Day in Saugerties in which an elected Boy Scout or Explorer took charge of one phase of village administration during Monday proved an outstanding success.

Village Trustee David S. Cunningham expressed the views of the entire board when he said he hoped it would become an annual affair. During the day 18 Boy Scouts and Explorers took over the regular functions of village officials as a part of the local observance of National Boy Scout Week.

In the evening the regular Village Board meeting was held in the Trustees rooms and Scout Mayor Richard Brackett presided. Other scouts sitting on the board included Scout Deputy Mayor and Street Commissioner James Mergendahl, Scout Police Commissioner Wilbur Wynne, Scout Fire Commissioner Eugene Lang, Scout Park Commissioner John Wey, Scout Sewer Commissioner Fred Kurtzweg and Scout Public Building Commissioner Gordon Purcell.

Village Clerk and Treasurer Dale Ruby had the task of reading the minutes of the previous meeting and the presentation of communications and bills.

The regular business of the meeting included the approval of membership of Charles Kelly in the R. A. Snyder Fire Company and Richard Talmadge in the C. A. Lynch Fire Company.

Each of the Scout Trustees submitted a report at the meeting regarding their individual departments.

Before the close of the meeting Scout Mayor Brackett thanked the members of the board on behalf of his Scout staff for the fine cooperation and the privilege of seeing the operation of the village government first hand.

Boy Scout Day in Saugerties officially began at noon when the Scouts with official capacity were excused from school in order that they might take charge of their official activities for the day.

Directed by District Commissioner Eugene H. Davis the boys reported at their stations began the preparation of reports they were to present at the board meeting in the evening.

Rittie Is Elected Power Boat Head

Saugerties, Feb. 10 — Walter Rittie was elected commodore of the Saugerties Power Boat Association at the annual meeting of the group Tuesday night at the clubhouse on Lighthouse Drive.

Rittie succeeds Jerome Daley who served in that capacity for the past year.

Also designated were John McDonough, vice commodore; Douglas Coons, rear commodore; Roger Ackerman, secretary; Ben Sanford, treasurer;

John E. Drewes, trustee; and Jerry A. Smith, steward.

Plans were announced for the annual banquet to be held Sunday, March 27 at a place to be designated.

A project for extending the docking facilities at the site of the clubhouse on the lower Esopus Creek was also discussed and work would progress in order to be completed in time for the boating season.

Glasco School Tax Remains at $36.46

Saugerties, Feb. 10 — The Glasco Board of Education has issued a statement following a meeting of the board Thursday night in regard to the 1955-1956 tax for school purposes in Glasco.

According to the announcement the school tax rate will be the same as the present rate which is $36.46 per cent per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

This announcement differs sharply with an announcement released to the press last week by a self-styled citizens group to the effect that the Glasco school rate would be "at least $50" next year due to the required expenditures for an approved junior high school program.

A reported consensus of the Glasco School board indicated that they believed the tax rate for the 1956-1957 year, when the junior high school program goes into effect will prove to be somewhat the same as the current year.

The finances of the district were discussed at great length and it was reported that members are of the opinion that the district will receive additional state aid due to the enrollment of non-resident pupils.

A proposal at the board's meeting was to purchase the necessary equipment for the industrial arts and home economics program for the 1955-1956 school year.

In compliance with state law the program will be initiated when the schools open in September, 1956. Tentative plans are also being made to secure the service of two additional teachers, and instruction in the seventh and eighth grades will probably be on departmental basis.

Answers Charges

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—The board of higher education disclosed yesterday that Dudley Davis Straus, suspended Queens College English instructor, has answered charges of neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming a member of the staff for refusing to answer questions concerning alleged Communist party membership.

The charges were preferred by a special committee of the board following an investigation by Michael A. Castaldi, special counsel to the committee.

Thinks Ike Will Run

Glen Cove, Feb. 11 (AP)—Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) predicts President Eisenhower will seek a second term in the White House from a "sense of devotion to duty." Duff, at a Lincoln Day rally last night sponsored by the Oyster Bay Republican Club, said he is convinced Eisenhower ran in 1952 "solely from a devoted sense of duty of obligation" and not because of personal ambition.

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—A Connecticut man was sent to Bellevue Hospital for observation last night after telling a motorcycle patrolman he was going to jump off the George Washington Bridge, police said. Police said Edward John Milchak, 24, of 38 State street, Waterbury, Conn., announced his intention to Port Authority Policeman Joseph Hannan. Death Penalty Stands

London, Feb. 11 (AP)—A proposal to abolish the death penalty in Britain on a five-year trial basis was knocked down 245-214 last night in the House of Commons. The Churchill government had opposed the change, but left its Conservative supporters free to vote as they saw fit. Hanging has been used mainly against murderers in recent years, but it can be invoked in cases of treason, piracy and setting fire to dockyards and arsenals. Britain dropped the death penalty for six experimental weeks in 1948, but reimposed it after two men were convicted of slaying a child.

Albany, Feb. 11 (AP)—Trustees of the State University of New York have approved a $1,200,000 outlay as its share of the cost of building a permanent campus for the Broome County Technical Institution at Binghamton. The university trustees yesterday approved the special construction budget. The 1955-56 budget that Gov. what may be for the acquiescent attitude, a psychological and logical necessity. And the devotee of communism, to whom such an attitude can be ascribed, becomes at once creator and worshiper of a magnificent human order."

Doctor Butler says there is nothing in the book hostile to communism but maintains, with merit, that if there is anything noncommittal, "it is obscured by our author's language." And he wonders why Brandel wrote the book at all inasmuch as in 1933 it was addressed to no burning subject of the time. Chicago then was bossed by Robert M. Hutchins, later of the Ford Foundation and now of the Ford Fund for the Republic.

One could get a Ph.D. just as easily by writing as obscurely on the existence of a quartermaster system among the warrior ants," says Doctor Butler with a fair appreciation of the U. of C. in the reign of the boy wonder.

CHANNEL MASTER'S great new antenna discovery!

the CHAMPION

RAINBOW*

Opens A New Era in Improved TV Reception

New Power! New Design! New Picture Brilliance!

Here is the most powerful TV antenna yet developed by modern science for improved fringe-area reception. An entirely new concept in antenna design . . . the Champion RAINBOW features 3 new, basic engineering discoveries including the revolutionary "triple-power" design! Developed at the world-famous Antenna Development Laboratories of Channel Master Corporation, the Champion RAINBOW outperforms every other all-channel antenna ever made!

Super-Sensitivity Cuts Down Picture Disturbances!

Regardless of where you live — or what make set you may use — the Champion RAINBOW'S super-sensitivity improves your picture quality! Cuts down — even eliminates — "snow" and "ghosts."

100% Aluminum—Can Never Rust or Corrode!

The all-aluminum Champion RAINBOW antenna is extremely durable, rugged and lightweight. It provides dependable service in all kinds of weather.

Best for Black and White TV; and Ready for COLOR, Too!

The Champion RAINBOW antenna not only provides the most brilliant TV pictures possible today in black and white . . . but, when you get a color set, this same antenna will bring you television in full color — at no extra expense.

We recommend the Champion RAINBOW as the TV antenna best suited for this area.

The RAINBOW antenna for suburban and "near fringe" areas. The Super RAINBOW for "fringe" and "super fringe" areas. Both models can be stacked for extra power.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 11.—Four hundred years ago, my ancestor, the Rev. John Rogers, was burned at-the-stake in London, England, on February 4, 1555. To commemorate him and to add some current comments, is my desire today.

The Rev. John Rogers was martyred for his work of translating the Bible into the English language and circulating this complete Bible in England. Tyndale, with the help of Coverdale, translated the New Testament and a portion of the Old Testament, as far as II Chronicles, when he was martyred there. Then John Rogers—under the assumed name of "Matthews"—completed the Bible in its entirety for readers in England. This was in 1537; and he did most of the work in Holland.

From Holland, the English imported flour, cheeses, and other foods. My ancestor arranged with the packers of the barrels and crates containing these food products to hide a Bible among the contents and thereby smuggled these Bibles into England. When he returned to England, about ten years later, he was arrested and imprisoned in the Tower of London. Finally, he was martyred at "Smithfield," where I have seen a bronze marker telling this story of his martyrdom.

There are many lessons for us from the above experience. First is the consecration of the priests and preachers of that day and their willingness to make any sacrifice, including their lives. Our unwillingness to sacrifice for our church and faith is a basic difficulty of the U. S. today. It is good to see church membership and attendance increase; but these figures mean little unless accompanied by a willingness to sacrifice.

Jesus never quoted statistics—He demanded that His followers be judged by their works of righteousness. I would go even further and say that the greatness of every powerful nation has been made possible by the people's sacrifice. When the willingness to sacrifice declined, the nation's economic strength declined along with its spiritual strength. In fact, the best U. S. barometer of our spiritual strength is the value of our dollar. It increases or decreases ac-ording to our willingness to sacrifice for what is right.

THE SECOND LESSON applies to the great need of more bible reading today. When I was a boy, most New England families were bible-reading families with daily family prayers. We were all taught to obey bible teachings and to memorize them. I believe that we must again install the bible as a family guide and as our national guide.

Atomic bombs will not save us, any more than the Chinese Wall saved China, or the Maginot Line saved France. This nation is depending too much on material defense. The more wealth we have, the better target we are and, through jealousy, the more enemies we will have. Only as we practice the Bible's Golden Rule, both in national and international affairs, can we hope to survive. The bible is the only "bomb" which can save America. Read Isaiah, Chapter 31.

THE CHINESE LEADERS of today were largely educated in colleges founded by missionaries sent to China by the Christian churches of the U. S., England, and our other Western Allies. I have visited some of these Chinese Colleges and have seen the bible being taught there to the brightest young men of China. These students were greatly impressed by Jesus' teachings, especially by the Sermon on the Mount.

As these students matured and became acquainted with the way our businessmen and politicians acted, they truly wondered if we are a Christian nation. Students who came to New York, Chicago, and other large American cities for post-graduate work concluded that we are hypocrites. They returned to China saying that the bible is a forgotten book with us. The Russian Communists told them that our missionaries used our bible only to "put the Chinese to sleep" while we robbed China. President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles—both bible-reading men—are handicapped by this unfortunate situation. Fighting alone will not save Formosa. Formosa and the entire East can be saved only if we stop worshipping material success and atomic power and return to the teachings of the bible.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

The mention of the inter-collegiate regatta by Harry Friedman of Kingston in this column, which used to be run at Poughkeepsie some years ago, and now is at Lake Onondaga, Syracuse, brought interesting response. According to a booklet called Salmagundi, (A Journal of Old New York and the Hudson river) dated October 1927, it tells about the first rowing regatta at Newburgh in 1837. The first races brought out enough interest among oarsmen to organize clubs along the Hudson, and as the item says: young boatmen, who had endured their laborious occupation as drudgery, woke to the pleasing fact that they were sportsmen. Yet the first racing boats were strong, heavy cargo carries, like the "Gull," and after losing to the "Wave" at Newburgh, was rowed from New York to Philadelphia.

The item further tells about the regattas which ran at Newburgh for four successive years, omitting 1840. The final one, in 1842, was said to have been the most splendid affair ever held on the river. Thousands of spectators crowded every available river steamer, thronged sailing craft and were massed upon the shore. However, that most notable of the first series of regattas was the last, for the cry of "professionalism" was raised, and thereafter for several years, popular enthusiasm for this type of sport was languid. I bet that was something to watch those strong-muscled boatmen, rowing those heavy cargo carriers, and the old time steamers, side-wheelers, and sailing vessels all around. There must be detailed accounts of such an event somewhere else.

But as we know, that such a sport could not die as long as the Hudson river ran its course, so a revival of interest led the Newburgh Association in 1856 to put on a regatta on July 4. This was successful enough to warrant another the following year which brought into prominence the Ward brothers, outstanding oarsmen and the historical fact that then the first racing shell built in America was used. The Ward brothers, Hank and Josh, won their first race in 1857, in a boat named after N. P. Willis's popular daughter, Fanny Fern. This initial victory was a close one, but the following year the brothers, rowing the Gazeley, won handsomely over a number of strong competitors and repeated the performance in September at Staten Island. A month later, "Josh" won his first single scull race at Newburgh against John Hancox, at that time acknowledged premier oarsman of the river.

This victory led to an open match for the national championship at which Josh Ward won the Tiffany belt which he held for a decade. James Hamill of Pittsburgh once got it away from him but kept it only a few months. Finally in 1866, Walter Brown took the championship belt and Josh Ward again appears in rowing history in conjunction with his brothers, of whom "Hank" was the senior. The five Ward brothers, with one outside member of their crew, rowed many successful races, the most notable being that in which they defeated the Harvard crew at Worcester, in the record time for a three mile of 17 minutes and 40 and a half seconds. Their last spectacular victory was at Saratoga 14 years after their first race. Two English crews were in it besides the most notable American oarsmen. Who knows something more about the Ward boys?

When today's hand was played in a recent team match the final contract was three no-trump at both tables. In both cases, also, the opening lead was a spade. Dummy played low, and East put up the ten of spades to force out the ace.

At the first table, South now tried out the clubs. When the suit failed to break declarer tried a heart finesse. West promptly took the queen of hearts and led another spade, whereupon East took four tricks to defeat the contract.

At the second table Ralph Cash, of Phoenix, took a better look at the club situation. He needed four club tricks to make his contract, and he could afford to lose one club trick to East in the process of developing the fourth trick for himself.

After a careful examination of the club spots, Cash led the nine of clubs from his hand, intending to let it ride for a finesse. He was willing to lose the trick to East, for then the rest of dummy's clubs would be good, and East couldn't run the spades while dummy had the spade queen.

As it happened, however, West covered the nine of clubs with the ten. Cash had to win with dummy's queen, and East dropped the seven. This was one of the reasons that declarer had led the nine rather than a low club. He hoped to pick up a singleton eight or seven in the East hand.

Cash now got back to his hand with the ace of hearts and led the six of clubs towards dummy. West covered with the eight of clubs, and dummy won with the king. East discarded on this trick, so it was easy for declarer to get to his hand once more and lead his last club for a third finesse through West. Cash therefore made all five club tricks and thus made his contract with an overtrick.

Incidentally, West could not have saved himself by failing to cover the nine or six of clubs. In each case South fully intended to let his card ride for a finesse if West happened to play low.

Oil Starts Trouble

Chicago (AP)—The order read: "fill 'er up" at 6211 N. Bernard street, the home of the Norman Bermants. Albert Berg, fuel deliveryman, removed the outside cap for the oil storage tank and delivered 250 gallons of fuel oil. He knew the place; he had delivered oil there before. It was just routine. He realized he was at the Joseph Slonim home, a block away, at 6111 N. Bernard street, too late to prevent damage to a basement playroom. The Slonims recently converted to gas heat and had removed their storage tank but left undisturbed the outside hose connection.

WALLKILL NEWS

Wallkill, Feb. 10.—The Wallkill Woman's Club will hold its regular meeting Friday, Feb. 11 at 2:30 p. m. in the Community Room of the Valley National Bank. Mrs. Lawrence Prisco, program chairman, will introduce the Girl Scouts. An interesting program is presented each year by the Girl Scouts, who are sponsored by the Woman's Club. Brownie Troops 41 and 78, and Intermediate Scout Troop 42 will take part. On Tuesday, April 19, the club will make a trip to the United Nations in New York. A bus has been chartered and any member who has not been contacted and wishes to go should contact Mrs. John Sloan for reservations. Social chairman for this meeting will be Mrs. Ernest Bell.

The auxiliary of the Rose-Shelley Post of the American Legion will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday, Feb. 14, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Chauncey H. McLean. Other hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Hazel Kaup and Mrs. Walter Harris.

The food sale held Friday by the auxiliary of the Rose-Shelley Post of American Legion was successful.

The Wallkill Parents Club held a meeting Thursday, Feb. 3, at the Wallkill Central School with 266 persons attending. The family life program of Living Together was a success. After a short business meeting Mrs. Gunch, chairman of the program, introduced the panel. A one-act play, Random Target, was presented by the Wallkill Footlight Club. The play was about an 11-year-old boy's behavior as a bully and the problems he presented to his parents. Following the play each member of the panel placed themselves in a part of the characters in the play. In that way they expressed their feelings in that part and offered their professional opinions. A final opinion given by Professor William Searles of Orange County Community, was "All children have emotions which they have to work out. Love one another and know your kids." Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Adrian Hulke was hostess to the Jolly Eight Club at her home Tuesday night.

The Sixteen Dinner Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Crist Saturday night, Feb. 12.

Early Attention Pays Off in Dental Health

(This is the fifth in a series of articles published by The Freeman in cooperation with the Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 7-13.)

The fairy godmother who rewards a youngster for placing a tooth under his pillow at night may be doing the child grave harm. If a first tooth is removed or lost too soon, serious dental troubles can result.

The adjacent teeth may "drift" toward the opening left by the lost tooth, causing the succeeding permanent teeth to appear in the wrong place.

The unhappy result may be a severe case of highly irregular second teeth and an unsightly appearance. In order to avoid this faulty tooth alignment, dentists will sometimes recommend use of a space maintainer when certain primary teeth are lost prematurely.

The belief that a child's first teeth are not important "because they will fall out anyway" has produced much damage to both teeth and appearance.

From the standpoint of general health, the youngster cannot chew his food properly and thoroughly with decayed teeth or if teeth are missing or if the teeth are badly out of position.

A CHILD'S FIRST teeth usually begin to appear when the baby is between six and eight months old. The first ones to come in are the two front teeth called central incisors. By the time he reaches two or two and a half years, he usually has all his 20 first teeth.

The permanent teeth begin to appear when the child is about six years old. Usually these are the four first permanent molars or so-called "six-year molars." They do not replace any of the primary teeth but appear far back in the mouth, just behind the last of the primary molars.

There should be a word of caution about the six-year molars. Because they do not take the place of first teeth, parents often mistake them for so-called "baby teeth." These six-year molars are highly important as keys to the position of the rest of the child's permanent teeth and are often called "the keystones of the dental arch."

All of a child's permanent teeth generally appear by the time he is between 12 and 13 years old except for the permanent third molars or so-called "wisdom teeth." These four teeth ordinarily come in between the ages of 17 and 21.

Segregation Strike

Johannesburg, South Africa, Feb. 11 (AP)—A call went out today to Johannesburg's Negro thousands to strike against the government's latest segregation scheme. The appeals' chances of success appeared problematical. The African National Congress (ANC) dispatched runners to the city's slums, calling non-whites off their jobs tomorrow or Monday. The strikes were called to protest the government's forced movement of Negroes from their homes in West Johannesburg to selected non-white areas outside the city. More than 100 families were evicted

Wednesday, with some 60,000 persons in all to be moved in the next seven years.

Committee Through

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—The "Committee for Ten Million Americans," set up last November to collect signatures petitioning the Senate not to censure Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), is dissolving. Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer (ret.), announced last night. The Senate condemned McCarthy for certain actions. Stratemeyer, chairman, said more than three million signatures were counted by public accountants and that the committee had many other signatures but did not have them counted for lack of funds.

Dear Johnny:

Many thanks for the superb job turned in last Saturday night by the Johnny Knapp Orchestra at The Barn. There were a good many fine comments by the large crowd, which attended your opening, after an absence of five years. Our new policy of continuous entertainment, with the superlative intermission playing of Jimmy Sweeney at the Wur-litzer organ was highly acclaimed. We feel more and more people will be delighted with that new policy, and the return of Sammy Lee Tucker entertaining nightly. Songs by Sammy Lee and a side order of our chef's special make a nightly trip to The Barn particularly appealing. Again my thanks to your orchestra and Jimmy for continuing to make The Barn a most popular club.

Cordially,

Margaret Danford, Senior at KHS, Chosen Good Citizen

MARGARET DANFORD
Miss Margaret Danford has been selected as the 1955 Good Citizenship of the senior class of Kingston High School. Each year the DAR sponsors this Good Citizen award in the ten judicial districts of the state.
Elected by her classmates, Miss Danford was chosen from three girls by a committee of faculty. The qualifications upon which she was judged are dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.
As Good Citizen, Miss Danford wrote an essay which has been sent to the state chairman in charge of the Good Citizenship award. Miss Danford's work on Patriotism, a Quality of Citizenship, will be entered in the state contest.
The outstanding senior will read her essay at the Wiltwyck Chapter DAR meeting Tuesday, Feb. 22. At this time, Miss Danford will be presented with a pin and certificate.

A SITUATION THAT REQUIRES TACT

A reader tells me: "I am writing to you because I think you are the only one who can solve my problem which concerns a very delicate matter and must be handled with great tact. I met a man several months ago whom I have been seeing regularly. He is a widower in the mid-forties; a professional man and very dignified. Thus I am all the more puzzled at his bad table manners. He picks his teeth in full sight of everyone, talks with a mouth full of food and when he has finished eating piles dishes on top of one another. This all takes place in our best restaurants. It has now reached the point where I hate to have dinner with him in a public place because I am embarrassed by his bad table manners. I am very fond of this man and hate to end our friendship because of this one bad habit. Is there any way I can bring this to his attention?"
If you have a mutual friend whose table manners you could criticize to him that would be the best thing to do, and say that a great many men are careless about their table manners and you mind it very much.

Thanks to Aunts and Uncles

Dear Mrs. Post: My father died recently and a discussion arose as to whether or not it is proper to send thank-you notes to aunts and uncles (my father's brothers and sisters). All sent flowers or spiritual bouquets to the funeral and I sent them notes of thanks. I have been told that anyone so closely related to the deceased should not have been sent a thank-you note. Is this true?

Answer: It is never wrong to say thank you to no matter whom.

Not to Be Overdone

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a man to get up and leave his party of friends and ask someone at another table to dance?

Answer: Yes, but not often; or ever, if it leaves a girl at his table with no one to dance with.

Is it improper to wear veils in the evening? Is card leaving no longer necessary? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Leaflet E-19, "An Etiquette Test," answers these questions. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Annual Immaculate Conception Church Parish Supper Set

Final plans for the thirty-second annual parish supper sponsored by the combined societies of the Immaculate Conception Church, were made Thursday night at a meeting held in the school hall.

The annual affair will be held Saturday in the White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue. Supper will be served from 5 to 9 p. m. Both modern and polka dancing will be from 7 p. m. until midnight. John Emmett's orchestra will furnish the music for dancing. Refreshments will be on sale throughout the evening.

Valentine Skop is chairman of this year's supper, assisted by John Buboltz as co-chairman.

Tickets for the supper may be obtained at the rectory, 467 Delaware avenue; by contacting Mrs. Pearl Reis, chairman of the ticket committee, or at the door tomorrow night.

The Rev. Joseph Siczek, pastor of the church, as well as the committee chairman, invite the public.

All proceeds will go towards the new school fund.

MRS. GLEASON DAVID PURCELL, the former Nancy Elizabeth Thurin of this city, whose wedding took place Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph's Church. (Pennington photo).

Miss Nancy Thurin, Gleason D. Purcell
Wed at St. Joseph's

Miss Nancy Elizabeth Thurin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thurin of 16 Prospect street, became the bride of Gleason David Purcell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carr Purcell of Kerhonkson in a double ring ceremony, Sunday at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. John P. Simmons, assistant pastor, officiated.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist, accompanied Mrs. Fred Renn, soloist, in traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess style gown of Skinner satin, with illusion neckline, long pointed sleeves and terminating in a full cathedral train. A tiara of rhinestones and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil. She carried a mother of pearl covered prayer book with white pompons and ribbon streamers. The matron of honor, Mrs. Joseph Hartmann, sister of the bride, wore a waltz length gown of gold crystalet styled with a fitted bodice, and a Spencer jacket trimmed with brown, and a matching headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of rust pompons and ferns.

The bridesmaids, Miss Vivian Richards and Miss Betty Thurin, sister of the bride, wore gowns of spring green identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant, and matching headpieces. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow pompons and ferns.

Francis Greene of Kerhonkson was best man for his cousin, Martin Vandemark of Kerhonkson. John Thurin, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Following a reception at Maennerchor Hall for 125 guests, the couple left on a motor trip to Miami, Fla. For traveling, the bride chose an ensemble of aquamarine blue with white accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed by the New York Telephone Company.

Mr. Purcell, a graduate of Kerhonkson High School, is with Capital Motors.

Play Will Be Given At TB Hospital By Drama Workshop

The Drama Workshop of the Coach House Players will present a one act play, The Dear Departed, at the Ulster County TB Hospital, Thursday, Feb. 24 at 7 p. m. The play group will then go to the Coach House meeting, presenting the production at 9 p. m. that night.

Directed by Richard Becker, the cast includes Maureen Rice, Dennis Brady, Madeline Reis, Patricia Govern, Scott Foster, and Mr. Becker.

At the meeting Tuesday evening, William Hawk gave a resume of The Great Big Doorstep a comedy, the next players' production. Tryouts were held following the meeting.

Miss Teresa Lloyd, vice president, conducted the meeting.

At the January meeting the following officers were named for 1955-56: Mrs. John Dunphy, chairman; Mrs. Lester Frost, secretary and Mrs. Stephan Nekos, treasurer.

STONE RIDGE Home Bureau held its regular business meeting Feb. 2 at the firehouse. Eight members were in attendance.

PHOENICIA Home Bureau met Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Walter A. Smith. It was decided to have the same officers as the previous year—Mrs. Floyd Hill, chairman; Mrs. Walter Smith, co-chairman, and Mrs. Edward Witko, treasurer. Mrs. Raymond Conklin accepted the nomination to be Acting secretary for Mrs. Henry Bernstein. Monday evening, Mrs. Edward Witko was hostess to the Mmes. Floyd Hill, Walter Smith, Raymond Conklin, Henry Bernstein, Emilie Dorchel, Philip Gordon, J. Robert Gregg, Charles Trapp and W. C. Van Steenberg. Miss Mary Van Steenberg visited with the group. Mrs. Hill announced the 1955-56 Home Bureau Unit projects and instructed the group as to the cutting of hand bag patterns. Mrs. Philip Gordon will be hostess on Monday evening, February 14, at 7:30 when the cutting and assembling of hand bag material and frames will be completed. At this time Mrs. Hill will discuss the next project, Sewing Screens. It is urged that all interested members attend as orders will be taken for sewing screen material.

Children Need to Know How To Resist a World of Pressure

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Some Friday, your young Jimmy will come home from school, depressed and belligerent. Told to replace the milk carton in the refrigerator, he will make it plain that he regards your reasonable request as a last straw.

Finally, you'll learn what's happened. Jimmy's teacher has warned him that his composition on what Lincoln's birthday means to him must be handed in on Monday morning.

His anger is self-distrust. In his teacher's warning, your child has sensed suspicion of his ability to produce by Monday morning. And he has developed a sudden suspicion of it, himself.

So we explain this to him. We say: "Dear Jimmy, when people tell us what we must give them by Monday morning, we let what they say go in one ear and out the other. We just see how scared they are we'll let them down. And how because they're scared, they want to scare us, too. We stop being mad at them and begin to feel sorry for them. And sit down to give these scared people what they need."

If we understand what we're saying, Jimmy will, too. He will stop expending his energy in anxiety over Monday morning and be able to use it to produce his composition on Friday night.

As his teacher has done her duty as a representative of the frightened world of pressure, we have done ours as the interpreter of it.

If we are intelligent, we will be grateful for every opportunity she gives us to instruct Jimmy in self-protection against the anxious world of pressure.

Children must have this instruction. Because they are less complicated than we are, they react swiftly to the suspiciousness that motivates threat talk about Monday morning.

We react to it with ulcers and high blood pressure. They react to it with frank resentment. If we aren't aware that they are angered by distrust of their ability to give what is wanted, we may increase their anger by becoming distrustful of them, too.

And instead of exposing what has happened, we may make the mistake of hounding them with our own reminders of Monday morning. Under these circumstances, they may not be able to produce their compositions.

If Jimmy learns to feel compassion instead of anger at the world of pressure, he can become a very valuable person to it. For it needs compassion terribly, always screaming at us as it does for reassurance that we don't hurt it on Monday morning.

If he is taught how loving it is to resist its anxious suspiciousness, it will recognize steadfastness in him—and give him its gratitude and respect.

SPCA Forms Fund Raising Committee; Plan Food Sale

A fund raising committee for the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been formed with Mrs. Ellen Beecher as chairman.

A food sale will be held shortly by the committee, and contribution jars will be placed in local stores and business places. Representatives in the city are Mrs. Ina Craver, Mrs. Lucy Freer, and in Saugerties, Mrs. Samuel Gilmore.

Ray Winne, special agent for the SPCA, announced that there are ten dogs, both pups and grown animals, at the Shelter, "willing to be adopted." Interested persons may contact him for further information.

Miss Joan Handschuh Becomes Engaged

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Joan Handschuh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Handschuh of Whiteport, to Joseph P. Genter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Genter, Sr., of 22 Hillcrest avenue.

The bride-elect who attended Kingston High School is employed by Kingston Knitting Mills. Her fiancé, who also attended Kingston High School, served in the navy, and is now employed by Milt Maid Fashions.

Jefferson Davis was never brought to trial. After being kept imprisoned for two years, he was released on bail.

Winifred White Becomes Engaged

WINIFRED WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy White announce the engagement of their daughter, Winifred, to Floyd Arthur Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Graham of Margaretville.

The prospective bride is a graduate of Catskill High School, and is employed at Kingston Knitwear. Her fiancé attended Margaretville Central School and is now employed by E. C. Machine Construction Co., Alsen.

Director Announces Concert Program Of Wagner College

The program for the concert of sacred music to be given Saturday evening by the Wagner College Choir was announced today by Dr. Sigvard J. Steen, the director. Sponsored locally by St. Paul's, Redeemer and Trinity Lutheran Churches with the cooperation of the Lutheran Church of the Atonement in Saugerties, the choir will sing at 8 p. m. at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer Wurts and Rogers streets.

INCLUDED IN the program is a group of works by seventeenth and eighteenth century composers. Among them is the Motette for double choir. Sing to the Lord, by Bach; O Magnum Mysterium by de Victoria. Also on the program are God's Son Hath Set Me Free, by Edvard Grieg, and a Motette for Advent by Gustav Schreck.

The final portion of the concert is made up of the following: This Night by Koenig-Christensen; Salvation Is Created by Tschernokoff; A Sacred Lullaby by Fisher and O Day Full of Grace, a Chorale by Weyse. Also to be sung is the well-known, My God, How Wonderful Thou Art.

THE CHOIR personnel is from the student body of Wagner Lutheran College, S. L., a four-year liberal arts college. Among the local alumni of the college are the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church and the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the host church. Pastor Gaise is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the college.

A general invitation is extended to all who wish to attend the concert and Mrs. Lester Decker, organist at Redeemer, will provide a program of organ music before the choir concert.

Postmasters' Meeting

The Ulster County Postmaster's Association will meet Thursday, Feb. 17, at 8 p. m. in the Central Post Office, Kingston.

Kelly Campbell Leaves New Paltz For Federal Position

The resignation of Kelly Campbell as financial secretary of the State University Teachers College at New Paltz to accept a position as budget examiner in the Federal Budget Bureau in Washington was announced by President William Haggerty this week.

Mr. Campbell, who came to New Paltz in November of 1951, will assume his duties in Washington, March 28 where he will be concerned with matters of budget preparation, legislative planning and management, and other duties in the Military Division of the Budget Bureau.

While he has been at New Paltz, in addition to handling the financial affairs of the college, Mr. Campbell has been active in community affairs having served as a member of the Village Board of Trustees and having been instrumental in the formation of the local Chamber of Commerce of which he became the first president.

Keyworth-Helm Nuptials Sunday

Miss D. Renee Keyworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Keyworth of Saxton will become the bride of Alva Helm Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Helm Sr., of Quarryville on Sunday, Feb. 13 at 2 p. m.

The ceremony will be performed in St. John's Parish at Quarryville by the Rev. Louis A. Stryker, pastor of St. John's Church.

FN Alva Helm Jr., is serving with U. S. Navy. Miss Keyworth, a graduate of Saugerties High School is presently employed with the Grand Union Super Market in Saugerties.

There's a look of "more hat" this spring to balance the slim lines of ready-to-wear. Blue shantung straw profile hat (upper left) by Sally Victor has abstract pattern of grosgrain ribbon bands in several shades of blue. Skimmer of white silk (upper center) by Mr. Arnold is printed with widely-spaced pattern of roses and green stems. Roses rise over the brim; there's a matching silk scarf. Sally Victor's Dutch bonnet (upper right) is a confection of finely pleated sheer white hairbraids touched with pale blue velvet baby ribbon. Landslide cloche of lemon yellow felt by John Fredericks is striped with bands of shiny straw in the same color (lower left). Breton of yellow silk rose petals (lower center) is Walter Florell design, has cutaway back covered by a single, full-blown rose of silk and velvet. Patty shell hat in clear red straw (lower right) by Gustav is accented with band and back buttons of matching red velvet. Back flare is accomplished by fluted straw to set off this tiny breton.

Memorial Recital Will Be Presented At St. James Church

The St. James Methodist Church, Pearl street, Kingston will present Donald Jensen and Mrs. Wilma Hoyle Jensen in a voice and organ recital Sunday, at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Jensen's organ numbers will include Grand Jeu of Du-Mage, the chorale prelude, From God I Ne'er Will Turn Me and the Fugue in C both of Dietrich Buxtehude. As her social number, Mrs. Jensen will play the great Chorale in B Minor of Cesar Franck. She will conclude with the contemporary works: Bells of Riverside by Seth Bingham, The Fountain of Eric Delamarter and Gerth Edmondson's Gargoyles.

From The Creation of Joseph Haydn, Mrs. Jensen will sing the Recitatives; And God said, Let the earth bring forth, and Straight opening her fertile womb followed by the Aria Now Heav'n in fullest glory shone. Two Arias from the Oratorio Saint Paul of Felix Mendelssohn will follow; O God, have mercy and Consume them all; As his final group, Donald Jensen will sing several selections from the Biblical Songs of Antonin Dvorak.

The recital is in memory of the late Mrs. Ruth Shafer Hutton, a member of the Music Committee of the St. James Methodist Church.

Academy Board Clears Way For Army Bowl Invitations

Bob Rosburg, Tony Holguin Tied at Tucson

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 11 (AP)—Tucson Open golf tournament as it moves through the second round today.

Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, and Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., a couple of 28-year-olds, share the lead. Each had five under par 65s for the 6,409-yard, par 70 El Rio course in the first round.

George Bayer, six-foot-five-inch, 240-pound giant from Glen Head Long Island, N. Y., and Bud Holscher, 24, of Santa Monica, Calif., are a stroke behind with first round 66s.

BAYER IS supposed to be the longest hitter in golf, and got off a couple of tee shots that traveled well over 300 yards. But driving honors for the day went to Rosburg. His drive rolled on the green on the 349-yard 17th hole. Two putts provided a birdie three.

The weather was a warm 67 but gusty winds in the afternoon sent scores higher than had been anticipated. Only 28 players bettered par.

Andrews 8-5 Over Johnson

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—Because Paul Andrews is supposed to be on the way up and Harold Johnson on the way down, Andrews is an 8 to 5 choice to win their 10-round rematch tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Andrews is No. 2 among the light heavyweight contenders and Johnson is No. 3 but Johnson already has had his shot at champion Archie Moore. Although Johnson led Moore at the end of the 13th round on two scorecards, he was knocked out in the 14th.

ANDREWS AT Chicago last March 17 had Johnson down in the first round but lost a split decision on Johnson's strong finish.

As usual, on Friday nights, the bout will be carried on network radio and TV (NBC) at 10 p. m. (EST).

Andrews, 25, has a 29-4 record for his pro career dating back to 1950 when he came out of the paratroopers. Johnson, 26, has a 50-7 record since he turned pro in 1946.

West Point, Feb. 11 (AP)—Army's participation in post season football games, probably the Sugar or the Cotton Bowls, had the backing today of the Military Academy's Board of Visitors.

The board, an 18-man group composed of members of Congress, the military and civilians, is strictly an advisory organization but its recommendations carry weight in the formation of Academy policies by Army officials.

The move to break down the Army barrier against participating in post season games reached a climax last night when the board held its annual meeting at the Point.

REP. HERBERT (D-La.) made the motion. It was seconded by Reps. Teague (D-Texas) and Johnson (R-Calif.) and met with unanimous approval from the board headed by Dr. James Baxter III, president of Williams College.

"To all intents and purposes the way has been cleared for the acceptance of a bowl bid by the Army," said Congressman Herbert. He pointed out his motion had the backing of Secretary of Defense Wilson and, while not binding on Academy authorities, it will be given serious consideration.

Lt. Gen. B. M. Bryan, superintendent of the Academy and former Army gridiron star, and Head Coach Earl Blaik both were advised of the board's action. They will not learn of it officially, however, until after the group's recommendation, along with others, has been sent to President Eisenhower. Herbert pointed out that the President takes no official action on the board's recommendations.

NEITHER GEN. Bryan nor Blaik was available for comment.

Although the board's recommendation approved Army's participation in any recognized bowl if a bid is extended, actually the Cadets probably would be limited to either the Sugar or Cotton Bowls. They are the major bowls not entirely tied up with individual conferences.

Navy broke the ice when it sent its team to the Sugar Bowl last Jan. 1, where the Middles defeated Mississippi 21-0. The Middles played in the Rose Bowl 30 years ago but Army officials have consistently turned down bowl overtures and there have been many, especially during the Second World War, when the Cadets were riding high.

Leafs and Bruins Battle for Third

(By The Associated Press)
Neither the Toronto Maple Leafs nor the Boston Bruins have any false hopes of winning the National Hockey League title, but they figure to go right down to the wire in the battle for third place.

As the situation stands today, following the Bruins 4-2 victory over the Chicago Blackhawks last night, the Leafs hold a six-point margin over Boston. But the Bruins have played two less games and victory in both of them could really tighten up matters.

Chop House Hits 3211; Jim Amendola Cracks 258-684-741 Highs

The atomic power in Jimmy Amendola's redhot mineralite lifted Jones Dairy's Major League squad into first place in the KBA city tournament last night in a blaze of spectacular shooting at the Central Recs.

Amendola boosted his own tournament gross series mark to 741 as the Dairyemen ousted Wilber Heating from the No. 1 spot in the team firing with a rousing 3224. The Dairyemen also shot 2993 for a new net total, beating Wilber Heatings 2953 set on opening night.

The Jones blast came on the second shift after Broadway Chop House, with Jake Chichelsky leading with a gross score of 697, took over first place with a 3211 slam.

Siena Meets Wayne Saturday
Siena College, which has had trouble beating its traditional rivals while running up a 2-8 record, takes on a brand new opponent—Wayne University of Detroit—Saturday at 8:30 p. m. at the Albany Armory.

Wayne comes in with a mediocre record but a reputation for beating tough schools and losing heartbreakers. The Tartars have downed Penn State, St. Francis of Pa. and Brandeis, and lost to Bradley, Valparaiso and Youngstown by less than five points, en route to a 7-10 season.

Wayne is a club that points to four out of five starters with double-figure scoring averages. Topping the list in size as well as scoring punch is George Brown, 6 foot 5 owner of a 13.6 average.

The Indians will answer with Timmy Hill as their top scorer at 13.7.

Siena's frosh play the 6:45 p. m. preliminary.

Katrine Meeting
The board of directors and building committee of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. at the club house.

Flotsam and Jetsam:
Ontario's Ronnie Locke has a finely developed jump shot from the keyhole. Another shot to go with it would increase his potential. . . . Syracuse's Al Cervi thinks that professional basketball's time shooting limit should be extended from 24 to 30 seconds. . . . To lessen the strain on players. . . . frayed nerves are already beginning to show. . . . Newburgh's Harold Kaplan has been accepted at Columbia. . . . Like Kingston's Skip Broadhead, the speedy NFA forward is a crack student. . . . Coach Ray Meyer of DePaul, who developed George Mikan, calls Minnesota's Dick Garmaker the "greatest shotmaker in basketball history." . . . better than Ohio State's Robin Freeman. . . . The Old Timers baseball dinner on Feb. 22 will be restricted to qualified members of the OTBA.

How Good Is Mr. Stickle:
Monty Stickle, Poughkeepsie High's truculent center, is probably the most controversial player in the DUSO League. Mr. Stickle's qualifications or disqualifications for the All-DUSO mantle can stir a hot argument on any basketball floor.

Dick Wood, who would enjoy Bo Gill's opinion on the subject, is a case example. Dick came to the field house Tuesday night "just because of the buildup you gave this guy," he told us.

After Dick saw Stickle's fumble through a bad first period he stalked over to the press table and described Stickle in terms not endearing to the big guy's chances for the DUSO dream team. Mr. Wood would not permit direct quotes but like Mr. Gill he can't see Stickle within a mile of the All-DUSO.

Stickle did have a bad first period but he did wind up with 28 points and because of size forced the Kingston defenders into numerous fouls in the second half. But he had one streak of eight points that should have convinced Dick and the other disbelievers. Stickle is big, awkward, but he murders you with points. What more can you ask?

Kingston Cagers Set For Newburgh Game

SPORTS
By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

It was during the preliminary game in which the Saugerties High School Jayvees were romping to their 14th straight victory. "There's nothing like a winning team to boost school morale," observed Coach Bill Straub, whose red hot Sawyers appear headed for the Ulster County Athletic League.

You had only to look around to see what Straub meant. The Saugerties rooting section was jammed, the cheer leaders were cutting up pretty capers and a wholesome atmosphere pervaded the Saugerties gym.

Across the way sat a guy whose team isn't doing too well. Coach Ed Witko of Ontario Central. In a few minutes the varsity squads were to take the floor for what seemed to be the inevitable Saugerties victory. But you could never tell by talking with Witko that Ontario Central had dropped nine in a row in the UCL. He was cheerful and affable and rather realistic about the Indians. Ontario is a couple years away but the Boiceville folks are getting better all the time.

Straub has a well coached team that can hit you from every angle. The Sawyers are clever under the boards and extremely fast. On a big court like the Kate Walton field house they could flash real speed. They had too many guns for Ontario although the first half was interesting and the Indians could have made it closer with a better foul shooting percentage.

You couldn't find two more perfect examples of clean-cut, young coaches with a future than Bill Straub and Ed Witko. They are certainly a credit to their schools and the coaching profession.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Ontario's Ronnie Locke has a finely developed jump shot from the keyhole. Another shot to go with it would increase his potential. . . . Syracuse's Al Cervi thinks that professional basketball's time shooting limit should be extended from 24 to 30 seconds. . . . To lessen the strain on players. . . . frayed nerves are already beginning to show. . . . Newburgh's Harold Kaplan has been accepted at Columbia. . . . Like Kingston's Skip Broadhead, the speedy NFA forward is a crack student. . . . Coach Ray Meyer of DePaul, who developed George Mikan, calls Minnesota's Dick Garmaker the "greatest shotmaker in basketball history." . . . better than Ohio State's Robin Freeman. . . . The Old Timers baseball dinner on Feb. 22 will be restricted to qualified members of the OTBA.

How Good Is Mr. Stickle:

Monty Stickle, Poughkeepsie High's truculent center, is probably the most controversial player in the DUSO League. Mr. Stickle's qualifications or disqualifications for the All-DUSO mantle can stir a hot argument on any basketball floor.

Dick Wood, who would enjoy Bo Gill's opinion on the subject, is a case example. Dick came to the field house Tuesday night "just because of the buildup you gave this guy," he told us.

After Dick saw Stickle's fumble through a bad first period he stalked over to the press table and described Stickle in terms not endearing to the big guy's chances for the DUSO dream team. Mr. Wood would not permit direct quotes but like Mr. Gill he can't see Stickle within a mile of the All-DUSO.

Stickle did have a bad first period but he did wind up with 28 points and because of size forced the Kingston defenders into numerous fouls in the second half. But he had one streak of eight points that should have convinced Dick and the other disbelievers. Stickle is big, awkward, but he murders you with points. What more can you ask?

Moose Shaves Elks Club Lead To One Length

The defending champion Dutchess Rec quintet has narrowed Ellenville Shanahans' Hudson Valley League lead to two games as the league squads prepare for their 25th week of action Saturday night.

The Shanahans' seven-game lead of a few weeks ago has been reduced to just two lengths. They have won 52 and lost 20, to 50-22 for the Recs.

IN LOCAL ACTION, Forst's travel to Middletown to meet the resurgent Gay Lounge which set a 10-year record at Middletown last week. Jones and Elston Sport Shop hosts Academy of Poughkeepsie, Rapp's Express goes to Liberty Toros.

Sam Fisher of Ellenville has regained the individual average lead with a 197-68 mark for 72 games. Dick Rhea of the Recs is second at 196-63. John Ferraro of Kingston is fifth at 195-31.

The figures:

Deadlocked at 26 points were W. Scharpf-Frank Nardi, Moose; Myers-Fabiano, Moose; Roche-Dresser, Scanlon-Watts, Johnson-Eckert, all of the VFW; and Radel-Ricobono of the KPBA.

G. Kelder of the VFW led the individual shooters with 23 points. Ben Rhymer of the KPBA was second with 22. B. Gibbons and Reis of the Knights had 21. Tied with 20 points were George Planthaber, Moose; J. Keizer, Elks; and A. Altamari, St. Mary's.

In next Tuesday's schedule, Elks Club is at St. Mary's Society; Knights of Columbus at VFW; and KPBA at Moose Lodge.

Nine Teams Set For 1955 Season

Managers of the New York-New Jersey Semi-Pro Baseball League are scheduled to meet Sunday at the Alexander Hamilton Hotel in Paterson.

Manager Fred Davi of the Kingston Colonials said today he had received an optimistic report from Ben Marmo, one of the founders of the league.

THREE YEARS of preparation have gone into the formation of this league and it is a great source of satisfaction to realize that the league will get under way this season," Marmo told Davi.

I'm thankful for the cooperation rendered by the semi-pro teams in New York and New Jersey in assisting this venture," said Marmo.

The executive committee will meet at 1 p. m. for the purpose of screening candidates for the important positions of league officers. Team managers meet at 2 o'clock to draw up the constitution and by-laws.

ALTHOUGH SCHEDULE making is not on Sunday's agenda, current plans require each team to play one game at home and one game away from home every week. This will bring about night games for those communities with permanent lights.

Nine teams have deposited a $50 retainer to be applied to the $250 franchise fee.

Besides the Kingston Colonials, the entries include Newburgh Dodger Jewels, Poughkeepsie, Brooklyn Windsores, South Orange, Jersey City, Allendale, New York Giant Rookies and St. Louis Brown Rookies.

Several major league clubs have shown a keen interest in the league and have sent representatives to assist in drawing up final plans. Included in the list of major league clubs interested are the Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants, Cleveland Indians, Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Phillies and Baltimore Orioles.

Saxton Fights

Akron, Ohio, Feb. 11 (AP)—Welterweight Johnny Saxton goes against Ronnie Delancy in the latter's home town tonight in his second non-title 10-round match since grabbing the title from Kid Gavilan last Oct. 20.

BALLED UP—Vern Mikkelsen of the Minneapolis Lakers looks like he's following through on a southpaw pitch and Dick McGuire of the New York Knickerbockers is calling somebody out. Actually, both players just missed a rebound during Madison Square Garden encounter. (NEA)

Zaslofsky Spark Charges Pistons

With Max Zaslofsky back on the beam, the Fort Wayne Pistons keep right on rolling over their National Basketball Assn. foes.

Last night Zaslofsky, one of the all-time NBA greats, scored 19 points as the Pistons defeated Philadelphia 105-97. The balding set-shot artist has been in double figures more and more lately as the Pistons stretched their Western Division lead over the second-place Minneapolis Lakers to seven games.

The Lakers suffered their fourth straight setback, this one coming at the hands of Syracuse, in the only other NBA game last night. A basket by Earl Lloyd in the waning moments helped settle matters in favor of the Eastern Division pace-setters 85-81.

Los Angeles—Carlos Chavez, 138 1/2, Los Angeles, outpointed Bobby Woods, 136, Spokane, 10.

Cub Pack 19, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1386 of Kingston, and Boy Scout Troop 82, sponsored by the Esopus Fire department, were the winners in the annual window display contest held by the Kingston District of the Rip Van Winkle Council, in conjunction with the current celebration of Scout Week.

The Commissioner Staff of the Kingston District visited 19 scouting windows entered in the contest—the largest group of participating windows ever to be judged in the district, according to Scout Executive George V. Dennis.

THE CONTEST winner in Union Fern on Wall street, displayed by Cub Pack 19, V.F.W., featured a slogan, "One Nation Under God" and traced the development of the United States down through the years. Center of attraction in this window were three model displays showing an Indian village, a settler's stockade, and a modern street scene. Exhibits of handicraft were also featured against a backdrop of Den Doodles, flags, and figures of a Cub Scout, Indian Chief, and a Pilgrim father.

Boy Scout Troop 82 window, in the Mott Garage in Esopus, portrayed a winter camping scene, with a blue lighting effect simulating moonlight. This display shows a camp with an actual stream of running water crossed by a miniature bridge. Surrounding this are three miniature patrol campsites with a lighted campfire and several smaller cooking fires.

Cold in Miami

Miami, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP)—A severe cold wave moved into north Florida today and the Miami Weather Bureau predicted the entire state would be in the grip of freezing weather by tonight. A drop of 50 degrees was forecast for the Miami area, from an afternoon high in the low 80s to the freezing point early tonight.

warfare, has been assigned a special protective mission as the evacuation sails for Formosa. It seemed almost certain that the carriers would provide air cover and anti-submarine patrols while evacuation ships are still near the Tachens.

The two Tachens and Yu Shan group in the northeast have been stripped of all civilians. Nationalist troops in number remain only on upper Tachen. Work details remained on lower Tachen. The other islands were abandoned.

Released From Court

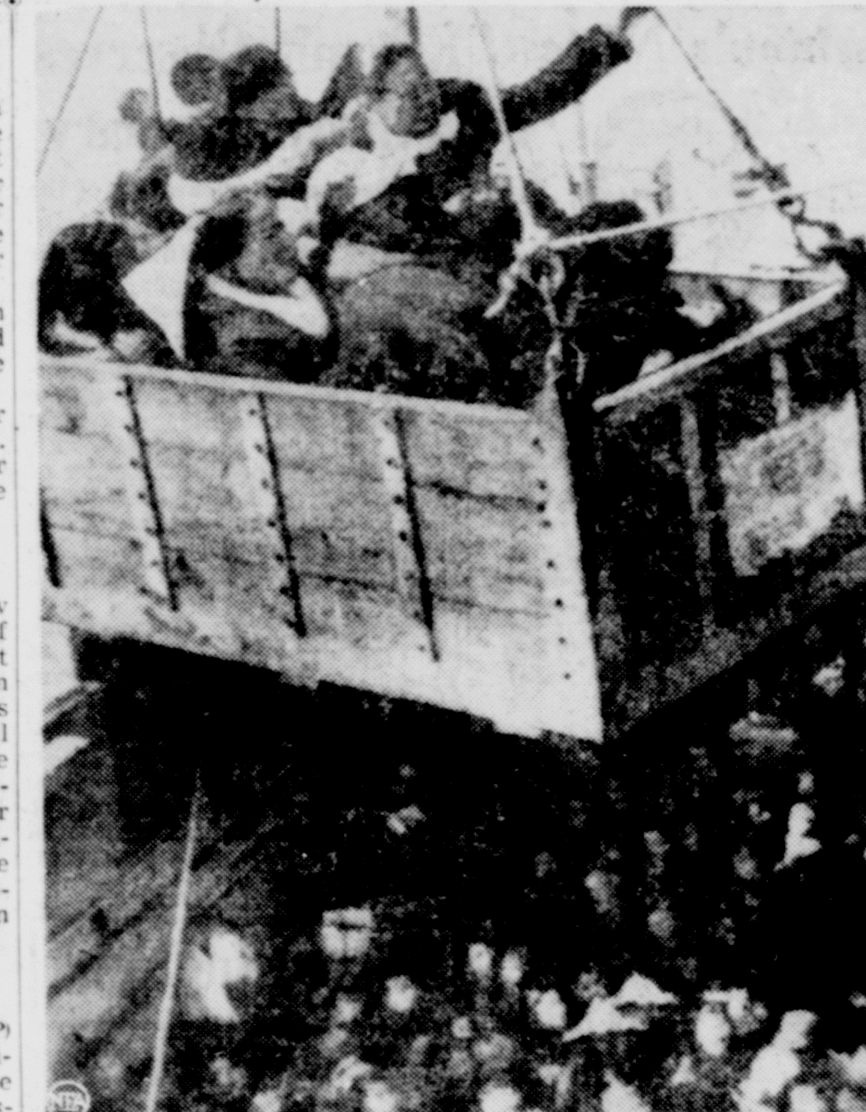

London, Feb. 11 (AP)—Moscow radio said today six members of the Supreme Court of Soviet Russia have been released from their duties and seven others elected to the body. Marshal Klementi Voroshilov signed the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) decree releasing the men. A later decree, also signed by Voroshilov, who is chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, named seven new men elected to the Supreme Court.

Ike Starts Hunting

Thomasville, Ga., Feb. 11 (AP)—Ignoring a light rain, President Eisenhower took to the fields at the Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's plantation estate today to hunt quail. The President and Humphrey got started at 9:15 a. m., after a hearty breakfast of orange juice, scrapple, scrambled eggs and coffee.

Community Chest

Meeting Feb. 21

Thomas J. Cupmore, executive director of the Albany Community Chest, will address the annual meeting of the Kingston Area Community Chest at the court house on Wall street at 8 p. m. Monday, Feb. 21.

George B. Matthews, president of the local chest, said the meeting is open to all contributors to the chest.

"Community Chest is a voluntary cooperative action by the people of our community to support worthy public service organizations. It follows the unique basic American democratic principle of being controlled and operated for the common good by all its members. Every chest donor is a member, and should be interested in formulating the policies of the group," Matthews said.

Election of public members of the board of directors and of officers of the chest will be held at the meeting.

The guest speaker, who has had a wide experience in Community Chest operation, has consented to participate in a question clinic on chest operation.

Trial Recommended

Panama, Feb. 11 (AP)—A special congressional investigating commission has recommended that former President Jose Ramon Guizado be tried on charges of complicity in the assassination of his predecessor in the chief executive's chair, Jose Antonio Remon. The National Assembly is expected to debate the recommendation next Wednesday. It must decide whether to try Guizado or quash the accusation. If tried and convicted, he could be sentenced to a prison term of from 10 to 20 years.

Veteran 108 Today

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 11 (AP)—Albert Woolson, sole survivor of the Civil War's "Boys in Blue," celebrated his 108th birthday today, with personal greetings from President Eisenhower serving as the highlight. Woolson's only public appearance comes this afternoon when he goes to Duluth city hall for dedication of a pedestal holding a bust of the veteran, presented to the city last fall.

Propose Bonus

West New York, N. J., Feb. 11 (AP)—A $300 to $500 bonus for New Jersey veterans of World War 2 and Korea is suggested by the Bonus Committee of the State Department of AMVETS.

Why We Say--

THINKING CAP

This old expression for getting down to serious thinking comes to us from England. At one time judges would put on a black cap before reaching a verdict. In some courts the practice is still continued in murder cases today.

Preparing Heart

to give assistance to community effort when and where ever the occasion arises. We are proud of their community spirit.

The Heart Fund drive started on Feb. 1 and will continue through Feb. 28. Heart Sunday will be observed throughout the nation on Feb. 20. The Ulster County Chapter suggests that persons receiving appeal letters and who have not already responded, plan to observe Heart Sunday by writing a check to the Heart Fund.

Chairman Matthews said that "all contributions we receive will be used by the Ulster County Heart Chapter to operate a three way attack on heart diseases through education, community heart projects and research, with a major portion of the funds remaining in this community to carry on the local program for Ulster county."

Plant Superintendent Of IBM Buys Home

Richard J. Whalen, plant superintendent for the IBM Kingston plant, has purchased the former Burger home on Elmendorf Hill off Route 209 between Kingston and Hurley.

The transaction was arranged by Daniel Van Wagenen, salesman for William Engelen, broker. Jennie Burger was the seller. The home is a ranch style dwelling on approximately one-half acre.

Prior to his assignment here, Whalen had charge of manufacturing planning for an important IBM defense contract at Poughkeepsie. He formerly resided at Brett Place, Poughkeepsie. He is married and has a daughter and two sons.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly higher today following two strong sessions in which new all-time high peaks were established.

The higher trend was established at the opening, but by early afternoon there were enough minus signs in the list to create a slightly irregular pattern.

Gains went to around 3 points at the outside while losses usually were held below a point.

Business was at a subdued pace as prices receded from their best. Yesterday's total was 3,460,000 shares with the market strong.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, Feb. 10.—Due to the icy conditions of side roads, no school sessions were held Monday.

Joseph DeFalco is a patient in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Leo Ladd returned Thursday to her home in Hoosick Falls. Her sister, Mrs. Jesse Alexander, drove her to Albany. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilkow accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hasbrouck, Modena, and Mrs. Elsie Baker, Marlborough to Newark, N. J., Sunday to see their cousin, Mrs. Maggie Hasbrouck Hayden who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Pope. Mr. and Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Hayden are planning to make their home in Arizona later this year. Mrs. Hayden is remembered here as she started the formation of the UD Society in 1896 when her husband James Hayden managed the first hardware store in town. They came here from New Paltz.

Mrs. Gladys Mears resumed her teaching of 8th grade this week after an absence of several months.

The card party Saturday night in the Masonic Temple, directed by Mrs. John Garguilo, was successful due to the interest and cooperation of committees and public. There were 90 in attendance and $100 was realized. This money will go toward the needs of the sick who are supervised by the public health nurse. During the evening, Mrs. Elsie Mertes, president of Lloyd Post American Legion Auxiliary 193, presented the nurse committee with a wheel chair. This is the second chair presented by the County Auxiliary through magazine subscription.

The 111th afghan completed by Miss Laura Harcourt was displayed at the meeting of the UD Society Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Champlin hostess. It was voted to be sent to a veteran at Castle Point. Miss Rowena Harcourt, second vice president, presided at the business meeting and Mrs. C. I. Richards is secretary protem. Mrs. N. D. Williams reported on the sunshine cards sent and

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

When he was a Senator, President Truman said that wasting money was one of the things in which the Army was expert.

The final disclosure of Who Promoted Peress is a striking example. The full report takes over 10,000 words and fills 25 pages. It now appears that Army Counselor John Adams was one of those who signed the honorable discharge of Peress on Feb. 2, 1934.

Mr. Hutton

All told, 61 Army officers including Major and Lieutenant Generals had a hand in this sorry business. Peress invoked the 5th Amendment in late 1932 before he was first commissioned. He did so again Aug. 5, 1933. He was three times recommended for dismissal on the ground of doubtful loyalty, twice by Gen. Zwicker, himself.

Nevertheless, he was thereafter promoted to the rank of Major on October 23, and only after Senator McCarthy opened fire on the Army's handling of the case, was he honorably discharged "to get him out of the service as expeditiously as possible."

There's something rotten when it takes the time and pay of 61 high ranking officers to get one Red or Pink out of the Army. Neighbor, why was all this kept secret when McCarthy was on trial before the Senate, and is now released by the very men who condemned McCarthy for trying to get the Army to act before Peress was honorably discharged.

A program in celebration of the 40th anniversary of Kiwanis International was presented by the local club at its regular luncheon meeting on Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Harry Rigby, Jr., past president of the club, gave a resume of world and local news from The Freeman of January 21, 1915, the date of the founding of the first Kiwanis Club at Detroit. He also read the account of the charter presentation made to the Kingston club on Feb. 21, 1921.

Three charter members of the local club were honored at Thursday's meeting: Sam Bernstein, Chester A. Baltz, Sr., and Dr. Julius I. Gifford. Baltz and Dr. Gifford are still active members of the organization. Also honored but unable to attend due to a business commitment was the local club's first president, Arthur J. Burns.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Feb. 11 (AP) — Sen. Thomas C. Desmond wants to put the legislative knife to the state's anti-dueling law and free the books of a fugitive-slave statute.

The Newburgh Republican said today he would introduce bills in the Legislature Monday night to repeal those laws and three others that he termed "legislative litter."

"Duelling and fugitive slaves have been unknown in New York state for years but we still have laws dealing with both," Desmond said in a statement.

HE CALLED also for repeal of:

A 73-year-old law against sale or transfer of tickets issued by the "People's Institute" entitling holders to lower admission fees to entertainment programs. The institute has not existed for 20 years, Desmond said.

A 78-year-old law barring children under 16 and not accompanied by an adult from attending a "kinetoscope." Desmond called the kinetoscope "an 83-year-old forerunner of motion pictures."

Desmond said that dueling in New York state was obsolete. "About the only dueling today is verbal dueling and political fencing," he added. "Our modern-day corporations do not tolerate outmoded regulations. But governments drifts along with the deadwood of laws that are both ancient and useless. My bills are designed to help clear out some of the refuse and bring legal tidiness to our statutes."

YESTERDAY, bills were introduced that would allow a person charged with a capital crime to waive his right to a jury trial and to require automobiles registered in New York state and manufactured or assembled after Jan. 1, 1937, to be equipped with windshield defrosters.

Sen. Fred G. Moritt, Manhattan Democrat, called for constitutional amendments that would allow a defendant charged with a capital crime to waive his right to trial by jury and to elect to be tried before a single judge or a panel of three state supreme court justices.

THE SUPREME COURT justices would be chosen by the Appellate Division and decisions would need concurrence of at least two panel members.

Moritt, a criminal lawyer, also proposed amending the criminal code to allow defendants in other crimes to waive their jury-trial rights with the approval of the judge in whose jurisdiction the trial was to be conducted.

Democratic Assemblyman Joseph R. Corso of Brooklyn filed the windshield defroster measure.

OTHER BILLS would: Deny the State Labor Board Authority in disputes between persons or groups within a labor union or in jurisdictional labor disputes, except to determine
